Bicyclist, 53, to ride 3,000 miles for emphysema awareness

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The trip from Seattle, Washington to Washington, D.C., on a bicycle, begins in southern Wisconsin.

It is a beautiful state. Friendly people. Cows. Rustic Roads.

It is a nice state in which to train for a 3,000-mile bike ride.

Pete Bolender, 53, of Antioch, has finished training for his summer marathon in Wisconsin and flown to Seattle to start the real ride.

Last Monday, he started in Seattle and expects to arrive 48 days later, August 1, in Washington, D.C., with about 1,300 other cyclists and support staff.

He is one of six Lake County cyclists doing a cross-country ride for the American Lung Association. There are 60 bicyclists from Illinois and 30 from the Chicago area also making the trip.

"Illinois is fairly well represented here," he said. "We've got a pretty good group."

They are also a dedicated group. Such a trip requires dedication. Bolender has dedicated his ride to Dorothy Falvey and his financial pledges to the American Lung Association.

He has a dedicated web page maintained by brother James Bolender (www.acusd.edu/chemdept/bi gride.html).

And, he has been dedicated to the training required for the trip.

"Training went fine," Bolender said the day before he left with his wife, Pat Bolender. "I saw a lot of southern Wisconsin."

He was able to do 2,600 miles of training since last January, only a few miles short of his training goal. During that time he also modified his bicycle with specialized equipment recommended by Chris Kaiser of Higher Gear, 2106 East Grand Avenue, Lindenhurst.

"Chris Kaiser, who runs the place, made a significant difference," Bolender said. This included everything from the bicycle to the training and diet.

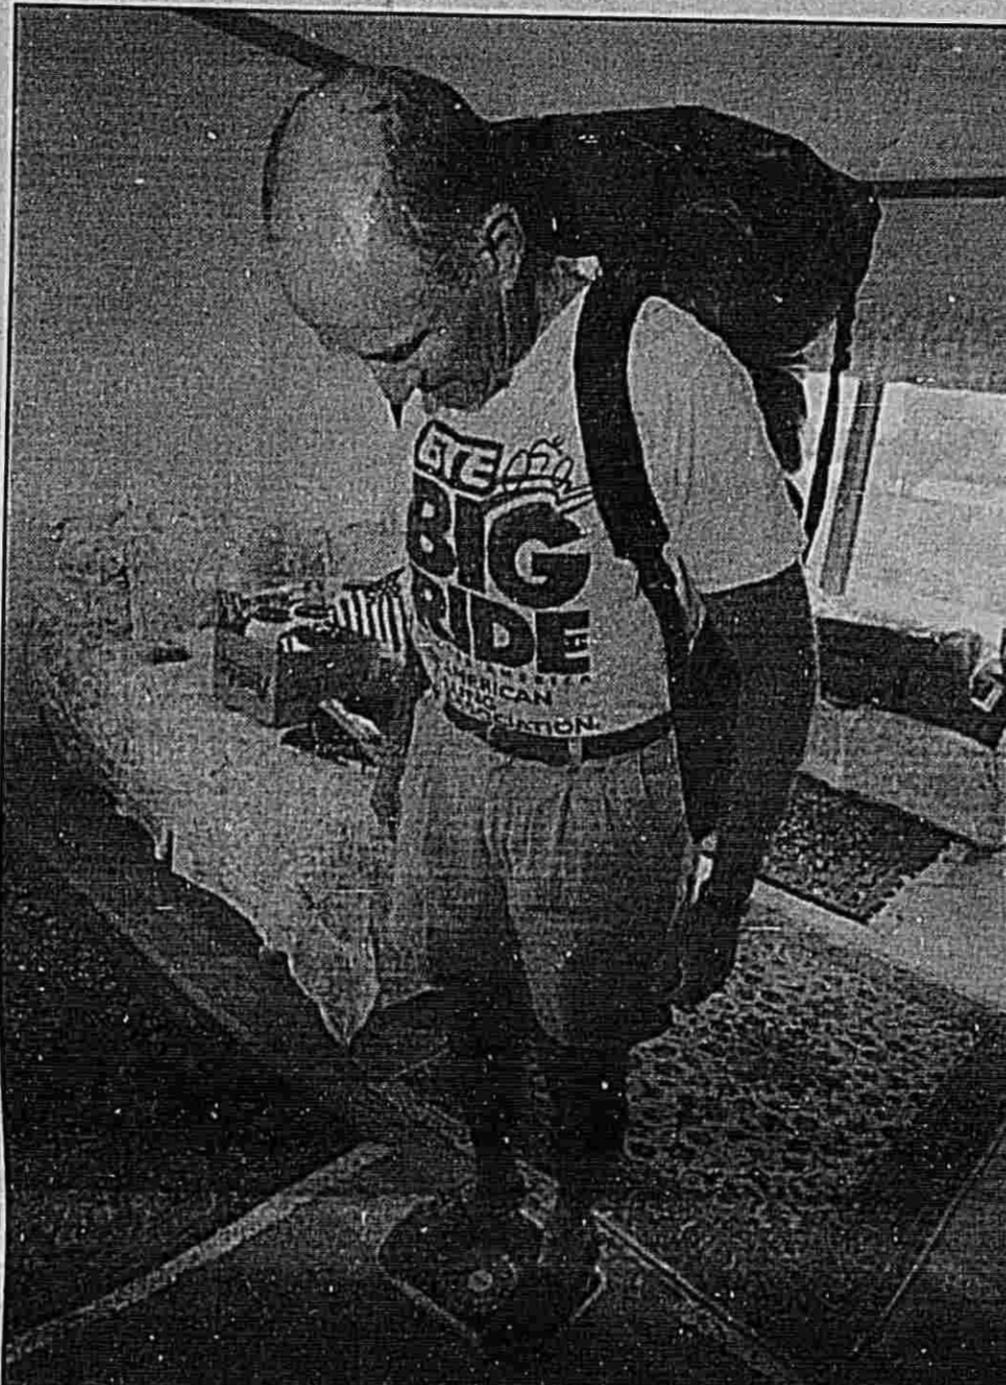

"I've progressed beyond what I could have without (Chris Kaiser's) support," Bolender said.

"My bike is equipped the way I want it with some special equipment for the trip," he said. For example, he has special ceramic rims on the wheels because they provide better braking in rain.

Bolender added Aero-bars to the handle bars. They will permit him to get into a very aerodynamic position when riding. "They improve performance by about 25 to 30 percent."

"I put a lower gear in the back cog," he said. This will give him more power up mountain roads.

Community
meets to

drug use

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A community forum on youth alcohol and drug use will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 22.

This forum is a follow-up to grade school and high school survey results about drug and alcohol use by Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Antioch youth.

The forum will be held at the Antioch Community High School auditorium.

Results of drug and alcohol surveys of students that were taken in January and March, 1998 have been presented to the District 34 and District 117 school boards. Summary results of the surveys have also been sent to parents of school children.

One of the major interpretations of the two district survey is that "there is a significant level of alcohol and other drug usage by the youth in our community."

Antioch Community High School students and students in grades 6, 7, and 8 of District 34 answered questions on a survey developed by the Rocky Mountain Behavioral Science Institute. The nationally administered survey is called the American Drug and Alcohol Survey. The Ft. Collins, Colorado institute provides an analysis of the survey results to schools which administer the survey to their students.

Grade 5 students were administered a similar survey that is more age appropriate but was different

More than 100 Artisans bring wares to weekend fair

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Artist Bruce Taylor is returning to the Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire after many years of absence.

An example of the work of artist Sharon Manka. Manka will be one of 100 artisans to be exhibiting her work at the Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire.

"It's been 15 or 20 years," he said. Taylor is looking forward to being at a fair he has heard much about and meeting customers he has not seen in a long long time.

The Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire will be on Father's Day weekend, Saturday, June 20 and Sunday, June 21. The show opens both days at 10 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m. on Saturday and 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The fair will be on Toft Avenue in downtown Antioch, west of Main Street.

Two new artists and a group of 100 exhibitors suggest that this may be an excellent Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire with a rich variety of sale items and a wide range of prices.

Also featured this year will be Sharon Manka, a realistic wildlife artist. "Her stuff is fantastic," Dan Sills has said. She sells big, framed, well-matted, limited edition, well-priced editions of her work.

Sills is the organizer of the fair for the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

The popularity and quality of the arts and crafts fair has created a new problem that the Chamber will have to manage in future years: too many people wish to exhibit for the space that is now available.

"We've got 100 exhibitors this year," Sills said. "We've been trying to cut it off because we're out of space."

He estimates that about 30 percent of the exhibitors are new to the fair this year.

Taylor is from Mt. Horeb, Wis. He has a gallery and studio there. When he was last exhibiting work in Antioch he was using a different media.

"I was working with acrylic," he said. Now he has moved into a new media.

"My main thrust has been colored scratchboard," he said. "There aren't too many of us doing this. There's only about a dozen of us doing it throughout the country."

"I do primarily wildlife," he said of his subject matter. These include birds indigenous to the area.

He has worked as a full-time artist for about 25 years. He also does about 40 shows. "I do them all year 'round."

"I bring everything that I have and put up a representative display."

Taylor also has original art from which he makes prints. The originals and prints give him a price range so that people have more access to his work.

Sills noted that Taylor has won 450 awards for his work through the years. He said that Taylor's work also includes florals, landscapes, and still-lives.

Dan Sills works with his wife Betty Sills at Betty Sills Gallery, 909 Main Street. One aspect of the gallery that he manages is the framing of prints. Sills has seen the matting used by Carol Taylor for

BIKING: Cyclist to ride 3,000 miles for lung research

"My intent is never to walk."

"My knees have not given me a problem," he said. To keep his knees pain-free, he added Speed-Play peddles.

"They give you much more movement of your leg so you're not in a fixed position and they make all the difference in the world," he said. Kaiser was the person who suggested using the peddles, according to Bolender.

There are other people who also have provided support.

"We've had 100 donors, and we've achieved in excess of $11,000 for the American Lung Association."

"One person donated $3,000, and I met him for 5-minutes in a gas station." They fell into a discussion about the ride.

"How about a dollar a mile," the man offered. Bolender said, "It just shows the generosity of people."

The donor is a very strong supporter of the American Lung Association, and works in the medical profession.

People who want to donate money in response to this ride, according to Bolender, also can send their checks to the Lung Association in Lake Bluff (847-295-5864). Bolender said that people can add his rider number, #1623, to the check when they send it in.

Bolender said that he has received support from his employer. "Dexter has given me the time off," he said. Co-workers have pledged to take care of his customers very well during his absence for the ride.

Goetz Travel also was generous. "They donated tickets to my wife and myself for the trip out to Seattle."

In 1994, another Antioch resident did a coast-to-coast trip in 27 days. Bolender had a long talk with him to ask about the experience. Bolender learned about what to expect.

Buffalo sometimes cross the road.

High-speed trucks create side-winds that blow bicyclists off the road. It is 3,000 pound trucks vs. 200 pound bicycles in the mid-west. "You have to be alert the whole time," he said.

People react differently to his plans when he tells them. "Boy, are you nuts? to 'that's the neatest thing we've ever heard,'" Bolender said.

"Some think it's beyond what is reasonable at my age, and I think it's probably the best thing to do at this age," Bolender said.

Why do a trip like this?

"My wife's mother passed away two years ago from emphysema," he said. We've dedicated the ride to her—Dorothy Falvey."

ART: Weekend faire feature 100 artisans her husband's work.

"The matting is unbelievably good," Sills said. "It is very unique."

Sharon Manka, of Brookfield, Wis., is also a full-time artist. This year is her first visit to the Antioch fair.

"We're looking forward to it," she said of the Antioch fair.

"I work in oils. That's my favorite," she said. "I sell prints of the oils."

"I've got about 50 different images of my work in print form." She said that she will be bringing all of her prints.

"I do song birds and wild game. It's endless. There are so many forms of wildlife." She likes to do realistic painting. Some of her other subjects include dogs, geese, natural scenic views, and some flowers.

"I spend many months on a painting for the detail," she said. She also takes a lot of photographs and works from them as she creates her oil painting. From the oil painting, up to 500 prints may be made of her completed work. People may purchase the prints or buy the original oil painting.

There will be food.

"St. Ignatius Episcopal Church will offer food at the show," Sills said. This year there will be Italian ice and hamburgers.

Taylor said that he is looking forward to the Antioch show. He enjoys that part of the artistic life.

Further information about the Arts and Crafts Faire is available from Mo Ferguson at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, 847-395-2233.

from the survey used at the high school and for students in grades 6, 7, and 8.

District Superintendents Dr. Dennis Hockney and Dr. Daniel Burke have invited parents to the community forum. In his letter of invitation, Hockney said, "The results of the survey show that our area is not without problems when it comes to the use of drugs and alcohol by young people. While all communities have a problem with teenage drug and alcohol use, I was surprised by the amount of drug and alcohol use revealed by the survey."

The survey provides confidential information by students about their use of alcohol and drugs. Results of the January and March, 1998 survey of school students provides factual information about local patterns of drug and alcohol use as well as comparisons with national averages.

Rummage sale building for blow-out

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Rummage is pouring into St. Peter's School, filling the gymnasium and the school rooms. It is not imagination. It is real.

"By the day of the sale, things are piled sky-high," said Ardean Harris, a member of the committee managing the massive sale. "When we open up, people will be lined-up. It's just amazing how many people turn out."

People arrive for the four-day bargain feast from everywhere, including Antioch. "They come from Chicago, Wisconsin, all over," she said.

The St. Peter's Rummage Sale is on Thursday, June 25 and Friday, June 26 from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Over the weekend, the sale is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Merchandise still can be dropped off until two days before the sale.

The donated items are sorted into different parts of the school to make it easier for buyers to locate what they need.

"One room is a men's fashion room. Then, we have a lady's fashion room," Harris said. "We have an antique room."

There is a toy room, children's clothing room, craft room, and a room with nothing but linens. There are a lot of rooms in the school.

"In the gym, there's a section for sporting goods, furniture, books and magazines, and records."

There are 78 rpm records and compact disks.

"There's a car and boat, stoves, and refrigerators," Harris said. "Anything you want, we have."

The sale is sponsored and managed by the Woman's Club—CCW. There are more than 100 people who pull it together under the general chairmanship of Claudette Skvarce.

"Since Claudette started doing it, it's just mushroomed," Harris said. "Now it's in every room in the school."

Food is available for lunch.

The sale is cash and carry.

The rummage sale raises money for the school and the church.

Antioch's St. Peter's Church is near the corner of Route 173 and Route 59, at 557 Lake Street.

Quilter's Dream to raffle work for Fourth

Once again, Quilter's Dream is working on a quilt that will be raffled off at the July Fourth celebrations in Williams Park in two weeks. People who wish to help with a few hours of quilting can call the store, 847-395-1459, to arrange some time to sew on it.

"There's never enough," said Wendy Maston, store co-owner. "We get more on the day of the celebration," she said. Right now she has a half-dozen people who have committed some time.

"The pattern is called the Friendship Star Quilt," Maston said. It is based on the Milkyway Star quilt.

The Fourth of July quilt is red, blue, and white. "This year, the blue is more predominant," she said.

Raffle tickets for the quilt are $1 apiece or $5 for 6 tickets and are available at the store at 902 Main Street. Proceeds will benefit the Lakes Region Historical Society and the village's 4th of July committee.

Quilters will be working on it at the Historical Society's open house in the morning and then will move over to the Williams Park Pavilion.

Coming up next: Quilter's Dream will create a Cubs baseball lap quilt for the Lions Barbecue and Rescue Squad Auction in August.

old red Nash that Ron Heinke modified. It is a gorgeous bright red.

"The kids are excellent," Hackmeister said. "The vocal blends are beautiful." She is very enthusiastic about this upcoming production. It opens in a few weeks and should be a very hard ticket to beg for.

"I love this job, I love it," said Michele Michel of Something Sweet at Orchard and Main Street. "We're doing great."

"We reorganized the back," she said. Now she has sugar-free candies piled in baskets and it is a very large selection. "I have tons of sugar-free chocolates, and we make sugar-free fudge."

She also had some beautiful looking real truffles. "These truffles are wonderful," she said. "They come from Vermont." They are selling so well that she said that she will stay with them.

The big news for Something Sweet is that they now have a box in which to mail fudge. "It's a postcard box, a special box, with two pounds of fudge. It says: Greetings from Antioch." Michel said, "We can mail it out."

Since their grand-opening a few months ago, the inventory has expanded quite a bit. There are a lot of old and new candies in there.

Antioch Miss, Little Miss pageant to host 23 candidates June 27

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Village officials will host the annual Pageant Queen contest Saturday, June 27 at Antioch Community High School to select two representatives for the community for 1998 and 1999.

The field of candidates includes 15 Little Miss Antioch candidates and 8 Miss Antioch candidates.

The evening's program begins at 6:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium with Ted Axton, President of the First National Bank—Employee Owned, serving as Master of Ceremonies. He will be assisted by Ann Kakacek who will provide descriptive commentary about each candidate.

The pageant theme this year is "When you wish upon a star."

"We're not going to have an intermission," said Laurie Stahl, Pageant Director for the Village. "We're going to have a social in the commons immediately following the pageant."

The post-pageant social will allow people to meet the candidates and for photographs to be taken.

Local merchants and organizations will help the village sponsor the pageant. The queen candidates have begun to talk to sponsors for the pageant.

Quilter's Dream will donate special chairs for the two chosen queen representatives to use at the end of the pageant.

"Impressions Count is donating the programs again," Stahl said.

JT's Road House will sponsor a dinner for the judges.

"Antioch Floral is donating all the flowers for the pageant," she said.

There will be a charge to attend the pageant this year. "It will be $2 for adults and $1 for children and seniors," she said. The village also has begun to charge a $10 application fee to candidates.

District 34 drug survey reveals potential problems

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A survey of drug and alcohol use by students in District 34 grade schools shows that there are large percentages of students in grades 5 through 8 who have tried drugs, especially alcohol.

The high percentage of 5th grade students, 2 percent, who have used inhalants a minimum of 3 times up to 10 times or more in 1997 was characterized as "alarming" in a summary of the survey results sent to parents this past week.

The actual numbers of 6th, 7th, and 8th graders who have reported use of drugs in December, 1997 were also reported. For students in grades 6, 7 and 8, there were 89 students who had used alcohol, 14 who considered themselves to have been drunk (not a legal definition), 21 who had used marijuana, 8 who had used cocaine, 4 who used stimulants, 37 who used inhalants, and 8 who used hallucinogens.

There are 611 students in District 34 in grades 6, 7, and 8 who were surveyed in January about their drug and alcohol use patterns. The survey is called The American Drug and Alcohol Survey and is a voluntary survey evaluated by the Rocky Mountain Behavioral Science Institute, in Fort Collins, Colorado. Student privacy was protected during the administration of the test.

Other results have been reported to District 34 parents.

The average age of first use of marijuana by 8th graders was 11.9 years of age. For inhalants, the average age was 10.8, and for getting drunk, it was 11.8. The survey said, "These numbers are significant because they indicate that drug use is beginning earlier among our youth."

"These numbers should be of great concern to us as the younger a child starts using alcohol and other drugs, the greater the potential harm to his/her mental and physical development and the greater the negative impact on his/her learning ability."

In addition, the survey notes that "there are a number of 7th and 8th graders in District 34 who are potentially already addicted to alcohol."

The survey results also show that local youth are much more likely to use alcohol and other drugs away from school, on weekends, or after school hours than they are during school time or school events. Most times, usage takes place at home or with friends at parties."

"...Substance abuse is a community problem, not just a 'school problem,'" according to the survey summary.

The survey results support conclusions that were reported at a Antioch Community High School District 117 June 4 school board meeting.

"My findings substantiated the same conclusions," said Chris Newton. She is the resource person for students and teachers in District 34 for drug prevention, education, and other student assistance issues.

There are five major conclusions that Tim Noonan, District 117 Student Assistance Program coordinator, and Chris Newton presented to their respective school boards.

"There is a significant level of alcohol and other drug usage by the youth in our community," Noonan and Newton have concluded.

"Most drug usage occurs outside of the school setting," they each told school board members.

"Parents and peers play a significant role in the use or non-use of alcohol and other drugs," they said. "Education and intervention efforts in this school alone are not sufficient to reduce the drug usage."

"And, basically, the research indicates that... this whole community needs to come together if we are going to do anything to effectively change these patterns before they get worse," Noonan and Newton said.

An opportunity to meet with the Antioch, Lindenhurst, and Lake Villa community and school parents has been scheduled for June 22 at the ACHS auditorium at 7 p.m.

The June 22 meeting will present further details about grade school drug use patterns as well as the continuation of those trends through the high school years. Both Noonan and Newton will discuss parent-child communication and peer influences.

"This is mainly just to educate parents on what is going on in terms of drug use," Newton said. "There may be open discussion of where can we go from here since it is a community, family, school concern."

Open to the public.

The survey is intended to let District 34 school officials know what students are doing with drugs.

"In District 34, this information will help us determine more carefully what our drug education effort should be," Newton said. "We will be increasing our parent communication education efforts as well."

Newton expressed concern about the experimentation with alcohol and other drugs that the survey reveals about student drug and alcohol use.

She said that experimentation has physiological impacts on a child plus it accelerates the time in which a person can become addicted.

"The types of drugs available place children at higher risk when they experiment," she said. The experimentation at a young age and the impact on developing children begins to close off options for children for the rest of their lives.

The survey revealed that there is an ongoing lack of communication between parents and children about drugs.

"Less than 50 percent of all students (low, moderate, and high involvement) felt that their parents had talked to them adequately about marijuana use, inhalant use, and other drugs," she said. The reasons for the lack of communication could have many origins. Newton speculated that maybe parents think these issues are being dealt with in schools. Maybe the parents are drug and alcohol users.

"At this age, peer pressure exists, but parent pressure is just as significant or more to discourage use of drugs," Newton said.

"Parent influence really is important." The influence can either encourage children to use alcohol and other drugs, or it can serve to discourage use.

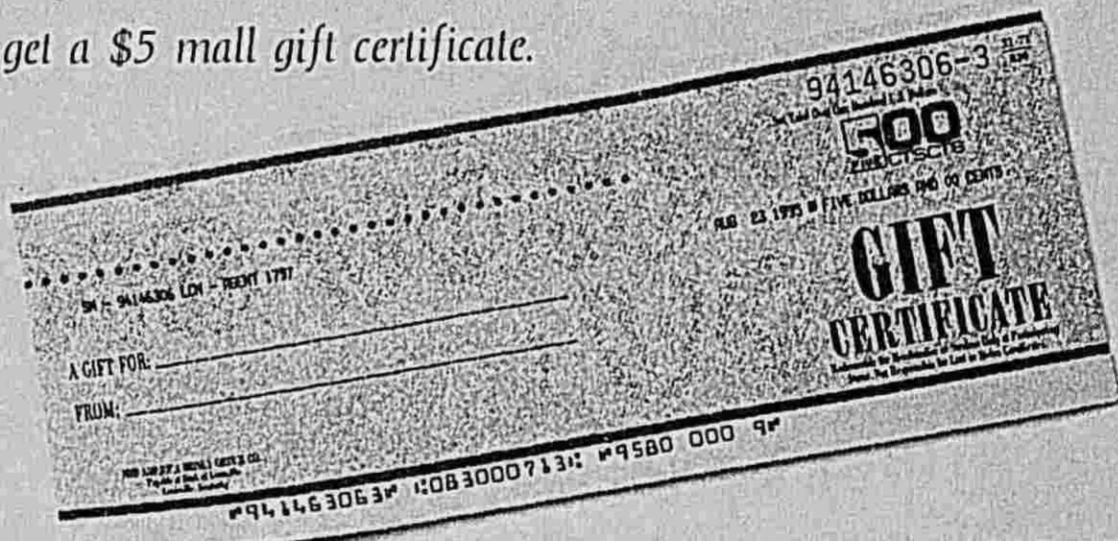

"About 85 percent of the fifth graders had never used and never intended to use any drugs," Newton said. "However, research does indicate that within the next few years that about one-third of that 85 percent will start experimenting and using drugs."

The survey results sent home to parents state, "Some people may perceive the schools' willingness to help as an admission of guilt for adolescent substance use just because the survey was given in a school. However, while the schools are an important part of any drug prevention effort, the entire community must share this responsibility."

I&M Canal featured at Historical Society meeting

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Members of the Lakes Region Historical Society will hear about local connections to the construction of the Illinois and Michigan Canal.

The public is invited to the Thursday, June 25 meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Earl and Barbara Beese will present a program about the sesquicentennial commemoration of the opening of the I&M Canal, and the work of Barbara Beese's great-great grandfather, Theophilus Greenwood, who built a section of the canal.

"It will be a narrative of how the family arrived and got in business in Chicago," Barbara Beese said. "There's a lot of interesting things about Theophilus that we will tell in the presentation."

"He had men who worked for him in the building of the canal," Beese said.

Earl and Barbara Beese also will discuss the state's celebration of the canal's 150th anniversary and display pictures of the festivities.

Special events have been planned by the State of Illinois to celebrate the canal's opening. "It will be a year-long celebration," Beese said.

Barbara Beese said that Theophilus Greenwood had a lot to do with some of the original builders of the City of Chicago. Greenwood worked with people after whom Chicago streets are now named, such as Hubbard and Kinzie.

As an early settler of Illinois, Beese was invited to attend the I&M Canal ceremonies in April at the park near the entrance to Navy Pier.

The June meeting of the Lakes Region Historical Society will have a short business meeting before guest speakers Earl and Barbara Beese make their presentation.

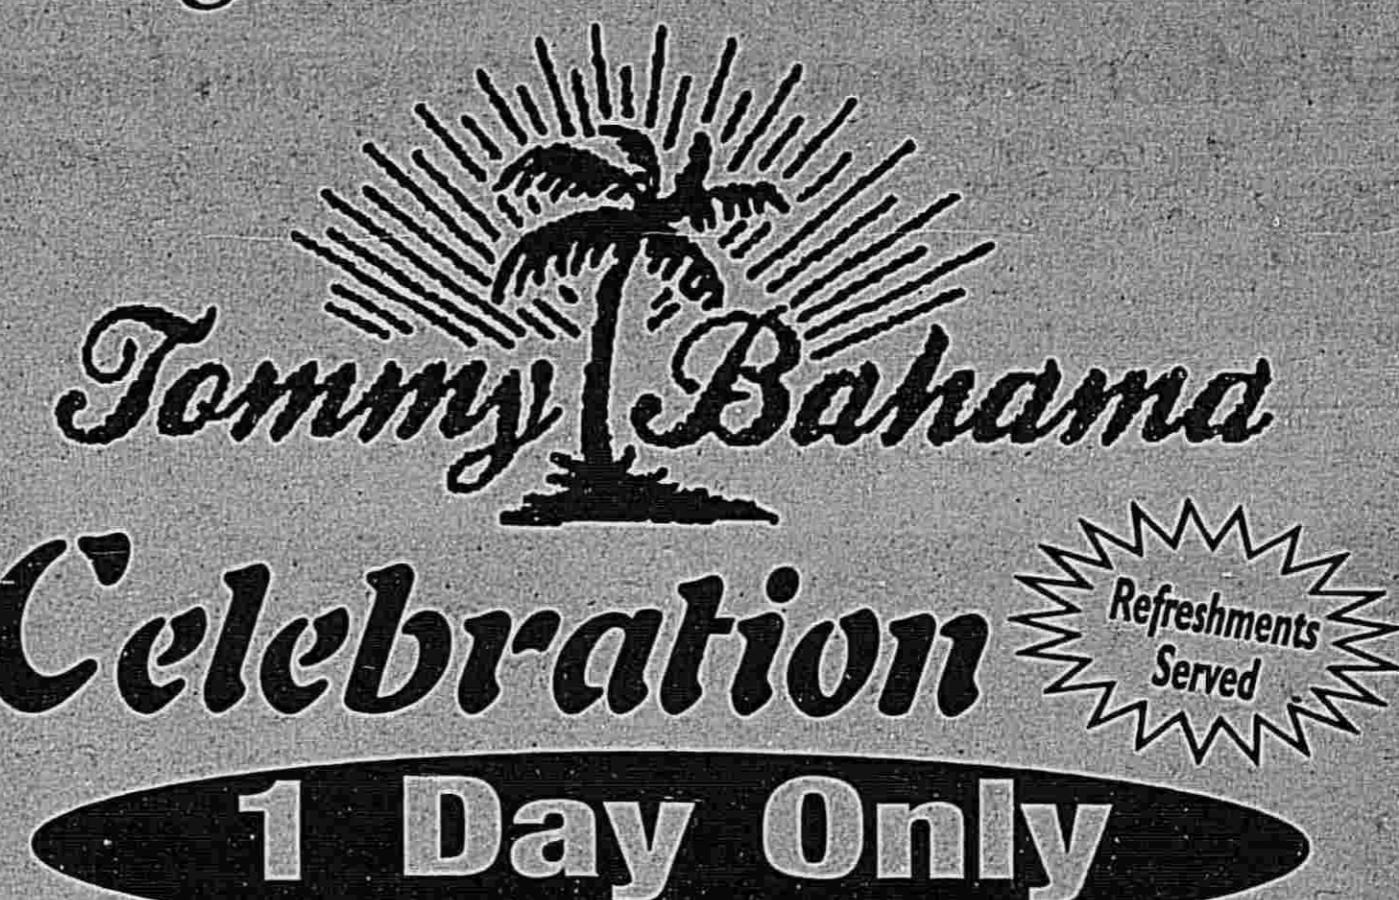

For more information, people may call Robert Lindblad, 847-395-0899, and Nancy Binder, 847-395-1453.

After "Fen-Phen," All Natural Tennen III Demand Skyrockets!

With the recent removal by the FDA of the diet drug "Fen-Phen," users are looking for a safe and effective alternative. They, as well as health care professionals, have found one that was recently introduced to the U.S. Unlike "Fen Phen," "Redux," and "Fen-Pro," Tennen III dietary supplement and diet plan is a totally natural, totally safe product sold inexpensively over-the-counter in the diet section of health food stores nationally.

Manufactured and distributed by Bay Wise Distributors, Tennen III comes from Canada, where it has been sold nationwide for six years. President Cory Chiarello developed the product with the safety and overall health of the customer in mind. The supplement is an innovative combination of vitamins, minerals, and botanicals that help curb appetite and speed up metabolism. The capsules consist of all natural ingredients, including kelp, beet powder and gynema, which lower "sweet cravings." Tennen III does not contain ephedrine, guarana, kola nut, or any artificial coloring or flavoring, sugar, preservatives, petroleum products, dyes, wheat, corn flour, or milk products. Many people who are diabetic, or have heart or lung conditions, can take Tennen III without side effects.

The "Diet Plan," which is included with the Tennen III product, works on chemical breakdowns, so the company advises against modifications and substitutions if possible. If certain foods cannot be tolerated, customers may call the toll free number to talk to a representative about possible substitutions. The diet consists of 1000 calories per day, and is following on a "3 day on 4 day off" schedule. You continue on this cycle for as many weeks as it takes to reach and maintain your goals. The capsules are taken every day, two before breakfast and two before dinner. As with all diets, a physician's advice is recommended.

Tennen III is being sold across Canada, a country where 27% of the population is overweight. Introduced to the American population in October 1996, it has grown in distribution to over 7,000 pharmacies and health food stores by Fall 1997. The demand has recently become so great that additional plants are now producing Tennen III to the company's rigid specifications.

Certainly part of the success of Tennen III can be attributed to the company's marketing approach, which supports its dealer network with national and local advertising, and services the user with a toll-free "help line" to answer questions that will help to not only lose weight, but also to keep it off—naturally and safely. Many diet products available today suppress appetites by speeding up the heart rate, or by raising blood pressure—both potentially dangerous to the user's health. The company believes that by taking Tennen III capsules and plan has helped thousands of overweight people shed unwanted, and unhealthy pounds. While making no claims to be a "miracle pill," the company knows that Tennen III will help anyone lose weight, feel healthier, and do it in a natural, long lasting, and safe manner.

Dad's favorite day is finally here

This Sunday, June 21, is the big day for all the dads, step-dads, half-dads, foster dads, and adopted dads of the world. This is the one day of the year that dads everywhere can lay around, hogging the remote control, while drinking the beverage of choice, and moms can't say a darn thing.

Oh yea, dads wait for this day. They don't have to take out the garbage, mow the lawn, clean out the gutters or fix the washing machine. They can play lounge lizard from sunup to sundown and boy do they revel in the thought.

As youngsters we learn quickly enough that although dad may look intimidating, he is really nothing but a lump of mush underneath that flannel shirt. Kind of cross between Sylvester Stallone and Peter Cottontail. Very few dads can resist the request of a child, especially if it comes along with sheepish eyes and pouty lips.

Who cares if the child is only 10 years old and wants a car, dad will do whatever he can to remedy the matter, just don't tell mom. Dads always holler the loudest, but often forget their anger, especially if you curl up in their lap and plant a big kiss on their face. You look in any dad's desk or night stand and you are sure to find everyone of those mushy, handmade, glue-oozing cards he was given over the years by his offspring. They are usually unreadable, illegible and very gooey, but he treasures them just the same.

Happy Father's to all, and to all a great day.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

Dads are very often overprotective, overbearing and overly generous.

My dad usually stops down at our house before he heads off to the local grocery store to see if I need anything. I may put in a request for a loaf of bread or a gallon milk. Invariably he will return with cookies, chocolate milk and chocolate, chocolate chip ice cream that he swears he didn't buy but somehow ended up in his grocery bag.

The kids love when grandpa comes a callin'. So to all you dads out there who can't wait until Sunday (June 21), just remember the privilege lasts only one day.

Monday morning it's back to reality. The new "Honey do list" will be tacked on the refrigerator, the remote control will be under lock and key, and the "beverage of your choice" empty cans will be waiting to be taken out and put in the recycle bin.

Happy Father's to all, and to all a great day.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Gurnee legion loses opener

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

It was old home week on several fronts when a new American Legion season commenced at Faulkner Field in Gurnee.

Some long-standing baseball friendships were renewed and some interesting combinations took place in Winthrop Harbor's 7-6 win over Gurnee.

There was Matt Mitchell, a shortstop and pitcher last seen hurling in sectional play for Warren High, snaring the final out. Rick Ray, a Warren High student who did not play for the Blue Devils, is on the Winthrop Harbor team as is Grant standout Mike Preble.

Antioch mainstays Chris Groth was doing his thing as the vacuum cleaner-shortstop while Karl Richter, who had an undefeated season for the Sequoits, was pitching in a Legion Post 771 blue jersey.

"It was a nice feeling to catch the last out. I have been playing with these guys for a couple of years now," said Mitchell.

Mitchell, 72 hours after receiving cheers from the Warren faithful, was receiving jeers. He singled and walked in 3 at-bats.

"We only practiced for one hour before the game. I was introducing players to one another. But we have great team chemistry," said Winthrop Harbor coach Rick Ray.

"We will be fine. We did not have a chance to practice together, but we have a great mix. Chris is very talented at shortstop - he played for us last year," said Gurnee coach Rick Hill.

Groth, who is headed for Illinois State University, did not miss a beat defensively. He saved one run with picking off a runner at second and forced a lead runner at third by going deep into the hole.

Gurnee was missing Antioch catcher Reggie Hughes, who has an all-star football game last weekend and Mike Zorich of Warren.

"It was a little awkward because I had never caught these guys. But we all get along well together. I have known Karl since the eighth grade and Chris since the fifth or sixth grade," said Gurnee catcher Brett Hill.

Richter had not pitched in 13 days, since a win in the regional semifinals for Antioch. The first five batters reached safely in a 3-0 lead for the visitors.

deficit. Mike Gildea, the ninth-place hitter, singled and scored in the third inning, but just barely, on a double by Lance Johnson.

Gurnee gained a 4-4 tie in the fifth as Brian Horner singled and scored on the second of Johnson's three RBIs.

But Winthrop Harbor scored four times over the fifth and sixth off Richter and his replacement, Tim Gorski of Carmel. Preble had an RBI single and Jeff LaBelle knocked in two.

The Gurnee roster includes Warren grads Nate Hansell in left field, Jon Savage at second base, Jake Hanson in right field, Justin Henry at first base, Horner at third base and pitcher and Gildea.

"We were pretty down after the loss to Barrington, but then Jake and I realized we still have a Legion season to go," said Hill.

As Bulls celebrate, area campers continue their dream

At Warren Township High School, youth basketball players dribble two basketballs the length of the court.

At Round Lake High, youngsters work on passing and dribbling skills.

Basketball camps perked up the morning after as Chicago celebrated its sixth NBA championship after the Bulls' 87-86 win over Utah.

"They did well; I had no doubts," WTHS camper Joe Devries said.

Scott Herber and many others proudly displayed their No. 33 Scottie Pippen jersey.

"MJ (Michael Jordan) should stay and they should do the same thing over and over again," Matt Kaufmann said.

"I like Dennis Rodman - he does crazy stuff," Jason Jereb said.

"It's great; it's the best," Ryan McClory, a MJ fan, agreed.

WTHS camp staffer Chuck Breuscher, a senior, is known as a three-point shooter himself, expressed some sympathy for John Stockton's missed three-pointer which would have forced a game seven.

"It was tough to go back to Utah," Chris Crecchio, a Round Lake High camper and MJ fan, said.

Meanwhile, adults clamored for souvenirs at the possible end to the dynasty, celebrated at Chicago's Grant Park on Tuesday.

"We're sold out of everything except hats. We had three different kinds of t-shirts and they all sold out," said Barry Niesen, a manager at Sports Authority at Gurnee Mills.

Some 30 campers participated in the first day of drills. They are being led by Tony Rogowski, a former RL basketball, football and baseball player and current Bulls season ticket holder.

"They are learning the basics such as how to shoot and dribble," said Rogowski.

Who knows, perhaps someday on a future mid-June hot afternoon Bulls fans will sing: "I want to be like..."

Warren High's sophomore baseball team had a successful year with a 20-win plus season.

The young Blue Devils were 23-3-1 and shared the top spot in the North Suburban Conference.

"They all hit the ball well. No one beat us twice. We split with Stevenson, Libertyville and Zion-Benton," said sophomore coach Dan Word.

Leaders were Dave Delgado, Nate Alden and Chris Maxwell. Maxwell and Alden saw time with the varsity at season's end.

"The kids definitely played hard," said Word.

Lake Villa Lightning near mid-point

The Lake Villa Lightning, Lake Villa Township Baseball's 13-year old Traveling Team, is nearing the midway point in Pony "A" league play as well as the overall season. Coming off a pair of wins versus Avon 6-2 and Wauconda, 8-5 the Lightning are now 4-5 in Mike's Memorial League play and 17-10 overall.

In the game vs. Avon Softball City, Lake Villa received some strong pitching from starter Chad Stroup who got the win and pitched 3 innings of no-hit ball while striking out 5. Ryan Myers got the save in relief (and in the near dark) as he stopped the rally with the tying run at the plate and the bases loaded in the bottom of the 7th.

Lake Villa scored 6 runs in the first 3 innings and was held hitless the rest of the way. However, that proved to be enough offense when combined with the solid pitching and errorless defense to hold off

Avon who only managed 3 hits on the night.

Brad Hoogerhyde went 2 for 4, scored a run, and drove in a run to get the offense rolling early. Others contributing to the scoring included Sean Walker (single, 2 runs, rbi, stolen base), Stroup (single, rbi), Scott Wold (double, rbi) Matt Luke-meyer (single, run) Nick Blocker (single, run, rbi, steal), Scott Coles (squeeze bunt, rbi) and Myers (run, steal).

In what was arguably their best effort of the season, Lake Villa dominated Wauconda with pitching and defense in a game not as close as its score would indicate. Wauconda was held to just 3 hits, none after the 2nd inning, as the Lightning responded to every deficit by scoring a run in the 2nd to tie at 1-1, scoring 4 in the 3rd to take a 5-4 lead and answering Wauconda's tying run in the top of the 6th with 3 runs of their own to seal the 8-5 win. Chad Stroup got the victory in relief of Ryan Myers as he went 3 innings, did not allow a hit, and struck out the last 5 batters he faced leaving no doubt about the outcome. The defense contributed by catching a Wauconda runner between 3rd and home with only one out in each of the first two innings. Brett Bairstow and Greg Kruse also turned in some nice defensive work at 2nd base.

Offensively, though Lake Villa had only 6 hits of their own on the night, 4 were for extra bases and featured a run scoring triple to right by Scott Coles in the 3rd which tied the game at 4-4 and a long double to deep left by Matt Poleck. Others adding to the offense included Stroup (2 hits, double, run, sacrifice fly rbi), Brian Blanas (single, 2 runs, stolen base), and C.J. Walleck (double, run).

COMMUNITY

One of the most popular styles of PM&L Theater shows will be offered this summer and coincides with the re-release of a popular movie of the same title.

The ever popular 1950s Rock and Roll musical comedy "Grease" will open July 10 for a four weekend run at the 877 Main Street Theater.

PM&L Theater musicals have typically sold out all seats for their runs. People who wish to reserve tickets for "Grease" may call the theater at 847-395-3055 or stop by the box office.

The local production coincides with the 20th anniversary release of the popular movie starring John Travolta as Danny Zuko and Olivia-Newton John as Sandy Dumbrowski.

Rob Findlay, of Trevor, will play the Travolta role. Findlay was Joseph in the PM&L Theater production of Sir Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice's "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

CHRONIC CLUMSINESS IN CHILDREN

We are all familiar with the stereotypical "clumsy" child. This is not the adventuresome, athletic kid who falls out of trees, but children who can break an arm while watching television or dislocate a shoulder as they eat lunch. Such "clumsiness" causes many parents to throw their hands up and resign themselves to having the emergency room serve as their second home.

No child is innately uncoordinated. The body is balanced by antagonistic sets of muscles pulling against one another with equal force. When this force is not equal, imbalances occur that can lead to joint problems in adults. In young children, the joints can actually change shape, resulting in a bow-legged or knock-kneed appearance. All muscular balances are not severe enough to create structural changes, but they can cause difficulty in movement.

If your child seems to have a coordination problem, a chiropractic treatment may restore grace and ease of movement.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Our clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

Hero of Auschwitz

*Libertyville's Marytown is home to the ideology of
St. Maximilian Kolbe*

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Managing Editor

"There is no heroism which a soul can not attempt with the help of the Immaculata."

— Father Maximilian Kolbe

He has been called a modern saint. The hero of Auschwitz. Prisoner 16670. The life of Father Maximilian Kolbe transcends his role in the Catholic church as founder of the religious movement called the Marian Movement or the Knights of the Immaculata; he has become one of the most studied modern heroes for the actions he took at Auschwitz. Actions which cost him his life.

His life lives on in a Libertyville shrine at Marytown, home to the Franciscan Conventual Friars and to the National Center of the Militia Immaculata, the movement he founded.

Kolbe, a Polish national, was arrested by the Nazis and imprisoned Feb. 17, 1941. It was the second time the Nazis had come to call on Kolbe and attempt to persuade him to abandon his religious beliefs.

After spending several months in the Pawiak Prison in Warsaw, Kolbe was transported with a trainload of prisoners to Auschwitz on May 28, 1941 where he was tattooed with the number 16670.

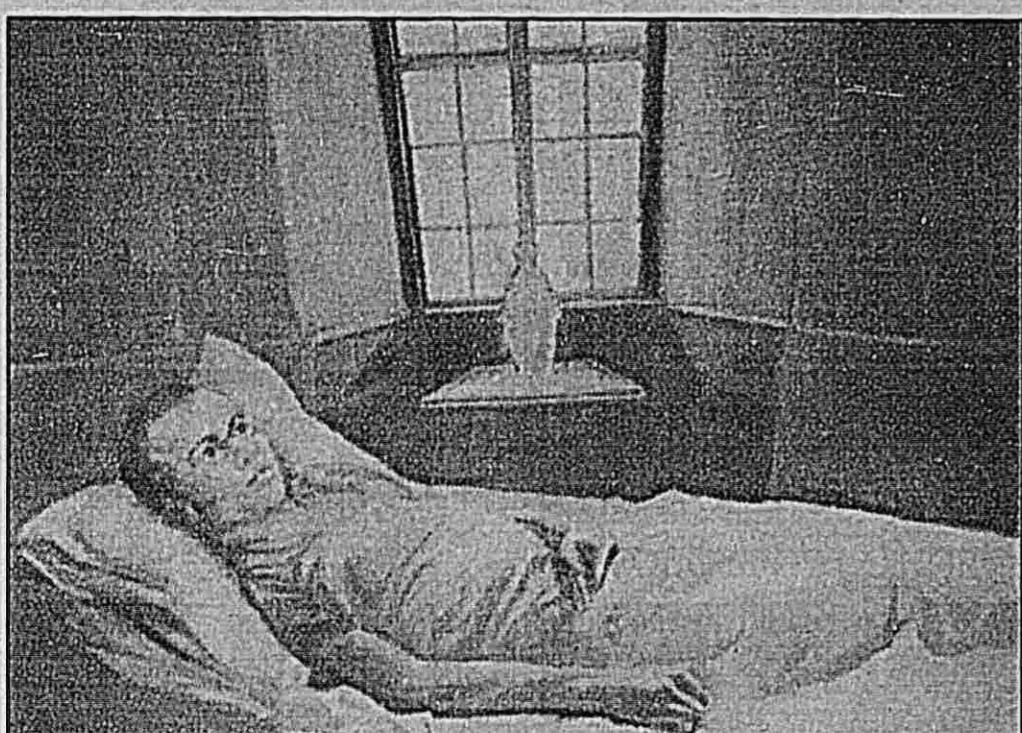

He was sentenced to work in the fields, despite being severely ill with tuberculosis, a disease he had suffered with since 1917.

Between July 28 and Aug. 1, 1941, Fritsch, the Commandant of Auschwitz, sentenced 10 prisoners from Block 14 to death by starvation in retaliation for an escaped prisoner from their block.

Father Maximilian's offer to die for one of the condemned, Francis Gajowniczek, was accepted.

Kolbe had stepped forward when he

Gajowniczek presented the painting during a visit to the shrine in 1970, when Kolbe was beatified. Above: One of the many scenes depicted from the life of Father Kolbe. This photo shows him recuperating from Tuberculosis. The Franciscan Friar always kept a statue of the Virgin Mary with him. He founded the Marian movement, which is dedicated to evangelism through the hands of Mary. Right: A mosaic depicts Father Maximilian Kolbe as a Saint and is surrounded by other scenes of his life. THEATRE

'The Miser'

"The Miser," a comedy by Molier adapted and directed by Timothy Mooney of Lake Villa, runs through June 28, and is presented by the Stage Two Theatre Company. This is a new adaptation of Molier's hilarious classic comedy about love and money. The play tells the story of the outrageous miser, who insists that his daughter, Elise (in love with Valere), marry a rich older man. At the same time, Harpagon chooses a rich widow for his son, Cleante, while choosing for himself the young women with whom Cleante is in love. Ultimately, the miser must choose between the woman he desires and a money box that he has lost.

Stage Two will be performing this show outdoors, at the Cuneo Museum at 1350 N. Milwaukee Ave. (Route 21) in Vernon Hills, set against an authentic-looking 17th Century backdrop. Performances begin at 7 p.m. on Thursdays and Fridays, to make the most of natural, outdoor lighting. Sunday matinees begin at noon and 3 p.m. Tickets are $15 for the general public, $12 for students and seniors and $10 for groups of eight or more.

For more information, call 432-SHOW (7469).

Walker, executive producer of the award-winning Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre, presents the Midwest premiere of "I Love You, You're Perfect, Now Change." The show runs through July 26.

"I Love You" is a musical that celebrates our complicated world of dating, relationships, marriage, child rearing, and old age through a series of comedy sketches that will have you laughing hysterically at yourself...and everyone else.

CLC has plenty of events for a great summer beginning

CHECK IT OUT!

The College of Lake County in Grayslake is hosting a number of fun events this summer for everyone in the county to enjoy. They include:

CLC Book Sale: Hundreds of used books ranging from mystery novels and textbooks to science fiction and children's books will be on sale at the College of Lake County's annual book sale June 22 to 25. Prices start at 25 cents. The sale will be held from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. in the Brandel Court at CLC's Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St.

The sale is sponsored by the CLC chapter of the American Association for Women in Community Colleges (AAWCC). Proceeds will be used to fund an AAWCC scholarship at CLC for female students and also to fund various activities during Women's History Month in March and Woman's Suffrage Month in October.

Persons who are interested in donating books may contact Carol Crane at 543-2443 or Diana Maculan at 543-2219.

Excursion to 'Blue Man Group': The College of Lake County student activities office will sponsor an excursion to see the performance of the "Blue Man Group" on July 19 at the Briar Street Theatre. The bus will depart at 1 p.m. from the CLC Grayslake Campus. The show will begin at 3 p.m.

Tickets are $48 for CLC students and $50 for the general public. The deadline to purchase tickets is noon on June 24.

Call 543-2300 for tickets. Visa, MasterCard, Discover and American Express will be accepted.

Art Exhibit: The College of Lake County's new exhibit features 28 small format paintings by popular Chicago artists Janet Bloch and Rose Divita. The exhibit will continue through June 26 at CLC's Community Gallery of Art on the Grayslake Campus.

Both artists are graduates of the School of the Art Institute of Chicago and recipients of the 1996 Arts Midwest/National Endowment for the Arts Regional Visual Artist Fellowship. Although their works are different, both find a common ground in areas of format, imagery and source material.

Bloch's work is an intimate look into her family scrapbook, both good and bad times. Many of her works have images of herself or family members surrounded by painted flowers, birds and butterflies.

Divita's paintings are petite images on a few square inches on board, forcing the viewer to come nose to nose with her subjects which are painted with minute detail.

The gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Fridays. For more information, call Steve Jones, exhibit coordinator, at 543-2240 or 543-2405.

Renting a car in Europe

by JIM WARNEK, President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Want to set your own pace on that European vacation? Touring Europe by rental car may be for you.

While the roads in Europe may not be up to the standards in the U.S. (some secondary roads are better suited to donkey carts than automobiles), you're going to have the opportunity to visit villages, country estates, and even castles that others only see from 30,000 feet.

Arrange your car rental with your travel agent before you leave. Renting a car in a foreign country after a nine-hour flight is the wrong time to try to decipher a rental car contract. There are also many fly/drive and rental packages that may save you money. You're guaranteed a rental rate regardless of the exchange rate when you arrive.

Other tips. Check the traffic laws of the countries in which you expect to drive. For instance, in Rome you may drive through a red light if there is no oncoming traffic. Seat belts must be worn by front seat occupants (none of whom can be children). Blowing your horn in some cities could get you a ticket.

Rental cars in Britain may not be allowed out of that country. Insurance costs make it prohibitive. You would also find yourself on the continent with the steering wheel on the wrong side.

Gas stations are few. Fill up whenever you're below half-full. Also, find out what grade the car you are renting takes. There could be as many as four from which to choose.

An international driver's license is available through any AAA office, but is not needed. Your U.S. license, along with your passport, will be all you need. (Make sure your license hasn't expired, though.)

HERO: Ideology of modern saint lives on heard Gajowniczek exclaim, "What about my wife and children?" when he was randomly chosen for the death chamber.

Kolbe, knowing his status as a Catholic priest would make him a favorable candidate for death, stepped forward and told the guard, "I will take his place."

Kolbe and three other prisoners survived the starvation chamber more than two weeks. During this time, Kolbe's spirit and faith never faltered.

"From his death cell were heard daily prayers spoke with strong voices, the Rosary, and religious hymns. Prisoners in other cells joined in," said Friar Donald Thielsen, of Marytown, in recalling the story of Kolbe's heroism.

Even the Nazi guards were amazed at their victim. Fellow prisoners recalled one guard saying: "The priest there is in truth a completely outstanding man. Such a one we have not yet had here."

At the end of the third week in the starvation chamber, Kolbe and three of the other prisoners were still alive, much to the dismay of their Nazi guards, who needed the cells for other victims.

On the morning of Aug. 14, 1941, the director of the infirmary injected a lethal dose of acid into each of the prisoners.

It was this dose which killed Kolbe. The following day, his body was burned in the crematorium and his ashes scattered to the wind.

Life of a Saint

The halls of Marytown include the St. Maximilian Kolbe Shrine and the historic Perpetual Adoration Chapel within the Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament Chapel.

Kolbe's movement, just 81 years old, is dedicated to the evangelism of souls through the Immaculata. Each member is to allow the hands of the Virgin Mary to guide him for the conquest of souls.

Though he was just 47 when he traded his life for that of a fellow prisoner at Auschwitz, St. Maximilian Kolbe's short life left the world with a great contribution to religious instruction.

"Each year we get more and more visitors to the shrine," said Marcia Tomaszewski, activities coordinator at Marytown. "His story is becoming well-told as both a hero of the Holocaust and a Saint. We have received many requests from school children and Scouting groups to visit the shrine and learn more about St. Maximilian Kolbe."

When Pope John Paul II canonized St. Maximilian Kolbe in 1982, he called him "the Patron Saint of the 20th Century: A Saint for our difficult times."

Today, Kolbe's heroism has not only gained him recognition in his church, he has also become one of the modern heroes studied by students of the Holocaust period.

Born Raymond Kolbe, in Poland in the year 1894, he came to love the Virgin Mary at an early age. His family often visited the shrine to the Virgin Mary at Czestochowa. As a young boy after being scolded by his mother, Raymond went to the church and asked Mary what would become of him.

The Virgin Mary appeared to Raymond full of Motherly Tenderness and offered him two crowns: A white one, which signified purity and a red one which signified martyrdom. He chose them both.

His path to the seminary was filled with doubt, but Kolbe chose to continue his studies. During his life, he often turned to the Virgin Mary for guidance.

Kolbe was a student of physics and mathematics who studied astronomy.

"While a student in Rome, he even applied for a patent for his drawing of a space craft, propelled by rockets," said Thielsen. This was in 1917. "He really believed man would eventually travel between the planets."

In January of 1922, Kolbe had his concept for the Marian Movement, approved as a "Pious Union." It was following that that he began his life work which continues to this day with publication of the magazine "Knight of the Immaculata."

Today, the magazine is published by the Conventual Franciscan Friars at Marytown in Libertyville.

In 1927, Kolbe established the first Marytown at Niepolawanow, which comes to be known at the "City of the Immaculata."

In 1930, Kolbe sets out for Japan where he founds a second Marytown in Nagasaki. Despite the recommendation of local officials, Kolbe chooses a remote site on the opposite side of the mountain.

"That vision proved prophetic, as the mission survived the atomic blast in 1945, due to its remote location," Thielsen said.

Kolbe had made plans to establish future Marytowns in India, Africa and the Americas, but his plans were interrupted by World War II.

The first Marytown in America was opened in Crystal Lake in 1948. It was later moved to Kenosha, Wis., in 1949 than Lake Forest and finally to Libertyville in 1978.

Marytown is currently working on establishing more displays on the life of St. Maximilian Kolbe.

A duplication of the starvation chamber is being construction in the basement of the building, which will include more artifacts and other displays of items from St. Kolbe.

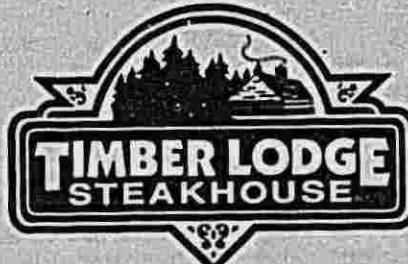

There are several mosaics of Kolbe in the building as well as a series of portraits about his life and teachings.

Marytown homes to have the new museum area complete for public viewing later this year.

Star memorabilia on display at Planet Hollywood Gurnee Mills includes costumes from "Dumb & Dumber," Batman's tuxedo shirt, a fireman's shirt worn in "Backdraft," Kelsey Grammer's tie worn in "Cheers," Lucy's polka dot dress, Ginger Rogers' pink hat, Robin Hood's cape from "Prince of Thieves," a silver jacket worn on "The Nanny," and much, much more. A full line of Planet Hollywood clothing is available at the restaurant.

The menu features freshly prepared dishes which have become the backbone of California's new classic cuisine - unusual pastas, exotic salads, turkey burgers, gourmet pizzas, and a wide range of desserts including the renowned apple strudel recipe from Arnold Schwarzenegger's mother.

The concept for Planet Hollywood was originated by Keith Barrish, producer of such films as "The Fugitive." Barrish joined forces with Robert Earl, recently described as the world's most successful concept restaurateur.

Barris, Earl and their partners Schwarzenegger, Bruce Willis, and Sylvester Stallone opened the first Planet Hollywood in New York in 1991. Demi Moore and Whoopi Goldberg have also joined the partnership. The openings of all Planet Hollywoods bring out many stars of the silver screen and television.

Ford, Heche make 'Six Days'

movie review

Gloria Davis

Maybe the script of "Six Days, Seven Nights," isn't award caliber.

Maybe the fact that Harrison Ford had already attained manhood when Ann Heche was born, dilutes the ingredients of an ideal love match.

Maybe the script of "Six Days, Seven Nights," isn't the most original romantic adventure ever to hit the silver screen.

Maybe Heche's much publicized real-life romance with TV's "Ellen" could hamper the believability of the romantic coupling of Heche and Ford for some people.

Yet the sheer acting ability of both, Ford's innate machismo, Heche's cute and physical enthusiasm, and the fact that Ford's romantic competition is "Friend" David Schwimmer, being simpier than usual, all make "Six Days, Seven Nights" a fairly enjoyable movie, a level

In a leading man class with Robert Redford and Paul Newman, Ford's attractive "everyman" looks make an alliance with a younger woman a lot more palatable than those we have previously been treated to with an aged Clint Eastwood, an ancient John Wayne, or grandpa Gary Cooper, etc.

Gary Cooper, etc. A little romance, some comedy, lots of action, and the two talented stars are responsible for a fast 90 minutes of good "PG-13" rated entertainment, a good date flick.

Thus the adventure begins, with some witty and some witless lines, as well as some exciting and some predictable action.

Bugs bugging you? Go the organic route

One thing about northern Illinois weather, it certainly is unpredictable. Our unusually warm winter and early spring, have made conditions especially favorable for the bugs. Bugs have overwintered tremendously this year. Which means there are a whole bunch of the buggers. Yesterday, while surveying my vegetable garden, I could not help but notice a whole lot of holes in the beans. What to do?

I know I have expressed my opinions on pesticides, countless of times, but in case you are unaware I do not use poisons in my gardens, but prefer to go the organic route. The obvious reasons of course—danger to us, our health, and the environment, but also things taste better when grown organically. When pesticides are used indiscriminately, they kill good bugs, those that eat many of the bad bugs (lady bugs for instance). Also, bees die, and we certainly need them to pollinate. You can mail order lady bugs to set loose in the garden to demolish the nasty bugs.

There are a few concoctions I have used—I mix hot pepper juice, (cayenne pepper) with water in a spray bottle, and spray the leaves of the plants, making sure I hit both the inside and underside of the foliage. I have also used dish soap, to some success. The safer company has a line of non-petrochemical, biodegradable products which are effective and cannot be dangerous. Safer Insecticidal soap kills harmful insects such as aphids, mealy bugs, white fly, mites, earwigs, pear slugs, etc., while sparing beneficial insects such as the aforementioned honey bees and lady bugs. It is completely biodegradable and safe to use around people and pets right up to the day of harvest. There is no toxic aroma, it leaves your garden with a clean, natural fragrance.

It is available in concentrated form or in ready to use spray. Diatomaceous Earth is white siliceous earth composed of the shells of single celled creatures. This gentle, odorless and non-staining powder kills most crawling insects by physically scratching the waxy coat off of their bodies. It is pretty unique as a physical device for insect control. In the garden, it's a great tool for combating slugs. It is great in snuffing out ants in the home, too. Will not harm people or non-target pests.

Another way to get slugs, is to set out traps for them around the bothered plants. I use little shallow containers filled with beer, set out in the evening, in the morning you will be amazed at how many slugs you will have trapped. My little boy loves this trick. If you have any methods for combating bugs, I'd like to hear about them.

Until next time, time peace and joy in the garden.

Victory Lakes fetes staff at 10th anniversary

Ten years ago, Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center opened its doors for the first time to welcome long-term residents as well as those in need of temporary, rehabilitative care. Over the years, the center has been home to more than 1,930 older adults. In May, the center hosted an employee anniversary dinner at Maravella's in Fox Lake to celebrate its first decade of service.

"Tonight we recognize those of you who have touched so many lives in so many different ways and continue to provide quality services to our community," said Tim Harrington, president, Victory Health Services, while noting that much of Victory Lakes' success is due to the compassionate dedication of its staff.

Guiding the growth and development of Victory Lakes since its opening ten years ago has been Mary Riggs, vice president, long-term care. Fired marine unit deputies allege political payback

'There is nothing political in nature to these dismissals'

By LEE FILAS
Staff Reporter

Two former part-time Lake County Sheriff Marine Unit employees may file a lawsuit against Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re, alleging they were fired from their positions for supporting Willie Ray Smith during the March primary election.

Del Re says any investigation will prove he was justified in dismissing both employees and would not comment on the circumstances regarding their dismissal due to possible litigation.

"There is nothing political in nature to these dismissals," Del Re said. "I can tell you that I have received a letter from a lawyer saying he is representing them requesting their personnel file. I have not been notified of any pending litigation at this time."

The two officers terminated, Salvador A. Martinez and Judy Konstans, were dismissed by Del Re shortly after the March primary election.

Both Martinez and Konstans refused to discuss details of the matter, due to the possible lawsuit, but the attorney for the two, Brian McCarthy of Woodstock, stated "It would be safe to say that both were terminated from the Sheriff's office."

Del Re would say both were dismissed for behavior which was inappropriate.

Konstans, who is the owner of the All-In-One Citgo Gas Station, located in Antioch, says she was apparently fired for displaying photos in public view which Del Re found to be defamatory to the sheriff's department.

"It's important to emphasize that this was an employee of the Sheriff's office," Del Re stated about the firing of Konstans. "We will not tolerate it, and we are deeply offended for the very offensive actions taken by her."

According to a departmental memo from the desk of Del Re and signed by Lake County Undersheriff Gary P. Stryker, he told all departmental personnel that the All-In-One gas station in Antioch is off limits, and that the only exception is when a call is received for police services.

County board intends to buy St. Mary's parcel

Libertyville Township can only watch prized parcel slip away

The 40-acre parcel along St. Mary's Rd. owned by Libertyville Community High School looks as though it may be preserved as open space after all.

Last week, the Lake County Forest Preserve District's Land Preservation and Acquisition committee voted to send out letters of intention to villages surrounding the property of the committee's desire to purchase the property from the high school.

The forest preserve owns the adjacent 380-acre Old School Forest Preserve and will add the high school's 40 acres to the existing preserve.

The parcel was purchased by the high school district many years ago for possible expansion. After the successful passage of the high school district's $48.5 million dollar referendum, to build a second high school on land owned in Vernon Hills, the board of education told voters the money from the sale of the 40 acres would go toward reducing the cost of the high school.

The parcel has drawn a considerable amount of interest from private investors, the forest preserve district as well as the Libertyville Township Open Space District. Township supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham had expressed interest in purchasing the parcel, but a legal stipulation in the open space law put the proposed purchase by the township in doubt.

Scott Adams, chairman of the LCHS property committee, said as far as he was concerned he was pleased with the county's intentions.

"I think it's great to have somebody like that interested in the parcel," said Adams. "In the grand scheme it's probably better for the whole community."

The land was appraised some nine months ago said Adams, at which time it was valued at $1.6 million. Adams said another appraisal will be done as the property has probably appreciated since that time. The county is expected to conduct its own appraisal as well.

"If we can come to an agreement with them, I don't see why we can't go ahead with it," said Adams. — by Jason J. King

Sheriff's Dept. undergoes major reorganization

Early retirement, others changes in the works for county police

By LEE FILAS
Staff Reporter

With Lake County offering early retirement to seasoned veteran employees, over two dozen sheriff's officers have decided to leave the ranks, resulting in the largest reorganization ever of the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

According to Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re, this move is not only cost effective, but it also enabled the department to promote several young, highly educated officers.

"The county viewed this as a cost saving measure in the department," Del Re said. Del Re admitted that losing veteran officers to retirement was hard on the department, but he expects to make the best of it.

"We highly respect the individuals who retired. Many of them had made contributions to this department for over 20 years," Del Re stated. "But, we have also been able to promote people that could implement a new philosophy in the Sheriff's Department.

The early retirement option was made available to all county employees. Retirements have occurred over the past one year period.

As part of the reorganization, Del Re has eliminated the positions of corporal and captain from the ranks.

"Sergeants and Corporals were basically doing the same job. A sergeant in a civil process was doing the same job that a corporal in warrants was doing."

"Also, there were only three captains on the force when we made the change," Del Re explained. "Removing the rank of Captain was a cost saving measure for the department."

"We also removed a full time detective from the Crimestoppers program. He has been replaced by

Weeks named state navy league's new top man

Ronald K. Weeks, Illinois State President of the Navy League of the United States was presented the Secretary of the Navy's Superior Service Public Award at the League's National Convention held this past week in Seattle.

Weeks was recognized for his leading role in keeping Great Lakes Naval Training Center open during the 1993 Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) round and for his recent fund-raising efforts which resulted in the placement of The Lone Sailor Memorial at Recruit Training Command aboard Great Lakes.

Weeks:

Admiral Joseph W. Pruhner, Commander in Chief, U.S. Pacific Command, presented the award on behalf of Secretary John Dalton.

Weeks, a local businessman, is also a National Director of the Navy League and a member of the National Executive Committee.

PAYBACK: Sheriff denies political payback in firings

Deputies are allowed to go," Del Re stated about the memo. "Until I am certain that they are no longer besmirching the Lake County Sheriff's Office, the All-In-One will remain off limits."

According to Konstans, she was fired after Del Re walked into the establishment and saw the pictures. Del Re immediately told the clerk of the store that Konstans was no longer needed at work. Konstans received a letter some time later echoing the remarks from that night.

The reasons for the firing of Martinez have not been discussed. Martinez had been an employee of the marine unit for over eight years and is an employee of the Chicago Police Department, working directly under Chicago Police Superintendent Terry G. Hilliard as a public relations officer.

Lakeland Newspapers has learned that the firing of Martinez occurred March 20, 1998, three days after the primary election victory of Del Re.

"There is nothing political in this," Del Re said. "This situation has just not made itself public."

When the case does become public, however, one man who will be watching closely is Illinois State Senator Terry Link (Dist. 30-Vernon Hills). Link said he is looking into the allegations.

"I have heard about this and we are doing some research into the allegations," Link stated. "The Chapman Decree is set up to pro-

"It's something that I want to check into," Lake County Board Member James LaBelle (Dist. 4-Zion) and vice chairman of the Lake County Board Law and Judicial committee stated. "The sheriff has control of his office. Any office holder has the right to question matters under the law."

"I have a Law and Judicial committee meeting on Monday, (June 22)," LaBelle continued. "I can get a report from the sheriff at that time. It's hard to know if this is a political situation without more information."

"I won the election by 60 plus percent," Del Re said. "I will not use this office for political means. I don't know if the two supported Smith. It is likely they may have since Smith headed the Marine Unit."

Del Re said he has not received a call from either Smith or Link.

a civilian," Del Re continued. "We felt there was no logic to assign a detective full time to Crimestoppers when employing our manpower is the most prudent matter."

Chief of Operations Kurt Proschwitz was the highest ranking officer to take advantage of early retirement. Deputy Chief of Investigations Rick Eckenstahler has taken over as Chief of Operations.

Lieutenants who have moved and reassigned include Bob Randall, who has moved into investigations, Steve Townsend has moved into court security, Bruce Scottberg now heads the marine unit, Greg Guntharp has taken over the administration, while Terry Cashmore has moved in to head the highway patrol.

"Our whole operation has become more healthy as a result of the moves," Del Re stated about the shifts. "We are satisfied that we are using the Sheriff's Department as best as we can and we are enhancing our presence in the community."

"We have been examining each division and deploying people the best way we can," Del Re continued. "The county has lagged behind in the past, we were always playing catch up baseball."

Del Re says he will continue to study ways to implement cost savings within the department and to put more manning on the street.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Charter school's fate decided

Libertyville—The fate of the proposed Liberty Hall Charter School was scheduled to be decided on Thursday by the Illinois State Board of Education.

The state board was expected to rule on the Liberty Hall proposal, as well as two other charter school proposals, one from downstate Edwardsville and the other from suburban Elk Grove Village.

The school proposal, submitted by Libertyville residents Barbara Shafer, Diane Grocki and Tom Schoeneman, was unanimously denied by the Libertyville Elementary District 70 board of education in December. An appeal to the state board was filed by the founders after its denial.

Shafer said she felt confident that the school might receive approval from the state board on Thursday despite the lengthy six-month appeal process.

"I think in many regards the state board doesn't want to make this decision either," said Shafer. "The state board has been somewhat reluctant to act in a rapid manner."

Open space bill more than expected

Libertyville—Libertyville Township trustees decided last week to pay the original bid price for the updated open space plan completed by Lane Kendig Inc.

Township supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham told the board that Kendig's bill came in at about $7,000 over the agreed upon $60,000, due to extra duties he had to perform.

"I think the study he did was a masterpiece," said Graham. "He has done things more than what the bid called for and we have to have a summary (of his plan) for the public hearing."

Kendig's plan is the first step in Graham's proposed extension of existing open space bonds for the purchase of additional open space acres. Graham has indicated he will seek between $43-$53 million for expansion of township open space.

WTHS eyes new rules for eligibility

Gurnee—Should standards for participation in sports and other extra curricular activities be raised?

And if they are, are there any side effects of shunning those who may need sports participation the most?

Those are some of the issues being tackled by Warren Township High School staff as a committee investigates a state mandated revision of a "No Pass, No Play" rule. Major changes could be presented next year as staff request another year to study all options.

The policy in effect for 1998-99 will be: "a student must satisfy the Illinois High School Assn.'s scholastic standing requirements, doing passing work in at least 20 hours of high school work per week. Students shall be suspended from activity until the specified academic criteria are met."

"When the No Pass, No Play mandate came out, there was a lot of confusion about what it meant. It is more of a generic term," Len Chimino, WTHS athletic director, said.

WTHS students may take up to seven classes. A question was raised if the 20 credit hours per week were enough to eventually satisfy the graduation requirements.

Board member Karen Friend voted against the policy, saying she wished the standards be raised now.

One dead in fireworks mishap

Fox Lake—Charges of involuntary manslaughter are expected to be levied this week against Joel Zank, 27, after a boat that he and a friend were fishing in drifted over an explosive that Zank apparently threw into the water.

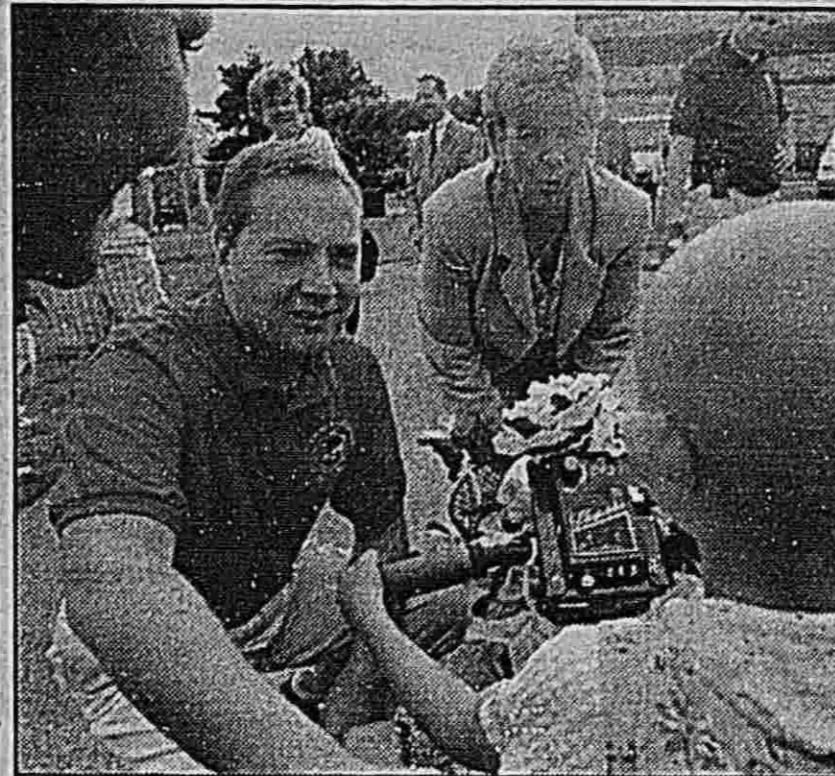

According to police, Daniel P. Wyman, 28, of Ingleside, died in the explosion.

According to reports, the two men were fishing on Branenburg Lake on or near 12:30 p.m. Witnesses to the accident said that an explosion went off in the boat at around 12:40 p.m., and the boat started sinking.

According to police, the explosion was caused by an M-250 firecracker, which is equivalent to a one-quarter stick of dynamite.

According to reports, Zank swam back to shore, but Wyman, who couldn't swim, never made it.

Wyman was pronounced dead on the scene at 2:54 p.m., after fire and rescue squads located him after a two-hour search.

Student wins Chevy Beretta

Wauconda—Robin Fodor graduated Wauconda High School earlier this month and drove off in a car she won from Boehmer Chevrolet of Wauconda.

The car dealership has sponsored a car giveaway program the past seven years, awarding a car to the lucky senior who has qualified for the contest by staying in school, getting a 2.5 grade point average and being active in extracurricular activities.

Fodor, 17, said the 1991 Chevrolet Beretta GT she won will come in handy when she travels to and from college, and will be helpful this fall in helping her attend her brother's wedding.

Cherry pit spitting contest

Mundelein—If spitting is your game, Quig's is the place, at least this weekend, as it hosts the inaugural Illinois tryouts for the International Cherry Pit Spitting Contest.

Tryouts will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21, from 1-4 p.m., in the parking lot area in front of Quig's, 300 S. Route 83, one quarter mile north of Midlothian Road.

A minimum 50 cent entry fee is required, allowing each contestant to spit three cherry pits. All proceeds will benefit A Safe Place, a Lake County Crisis Center. Larger donations will be accepted.

The person who spits a cherry pit the farthest will be announced at the winner at 4 p.m. June 21. Quig's will pay to send the winner to the finals tryouts held the first weekend in July, at the Tree-Mendous Fruit farm near Eau Clair, Mich., the supplier of all the cherries for the contest.

Lake Villa to select pageant queens

Lake Villa—Lake Villa will host its three annual Queen Pageants at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 29 at Peter J. Palombi School.

There will be nineteen candidates for Little Miss, Junior Miss, and Miss Lake Villa pageant titles.

"I always call them goodwill ambassadors," said Alyce Brownlee, Pageant Director. The candidates represent the village and provide volunteer services for many events.

The master of ceremonies for this year's pageant will be Mayor Frank Loffredo. He will welcome the candidates to the two-hour pageant whose theme is "That Magic Moment." The music will be provided by Jerry Cola, a member of the Village

Planning and Zoning Board.

The pageant will be in the gymnasium at the Palombi School, 133 McKinley Avenue. "We outgrew the auditorium."

This year, the pageant will be televised by cable on Channel 3.

There is a $2 donation to see the pageant, but children are free.

'Bomb' found in Round Lake Park

Round Lake Park—Round Lake Park Police Chief Bruce Johnson announced this week that they have arrested a Round Lake resident for being in possession of a powdery explosive device while he was walking down the road in Round Lake Park.

According to Johnson, John M. Griffin, 37, of 204 Orbiter Lane in Round Lake was arrested for disorderly conduct and unlawful use of a weapon in the incident.

According to Johnson, Griffin was riding a bicycle down Main Street with a blue bag in his possession. Police investigated the man and subsequently determined that he was in possession of five explosive devices. The devices have been sent to the state crime lab for analysis.

Art Fair features 100 artisans

Antioch—The Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire will be on Father's Day weekend, Saturday, June 20 and Sunday, June 21. The show opens both days at 10 a.m. and closes 5 p.m. on Saturday and 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The fair will be on Toft Avenue in downtown Antioch, west of Main Street.

Two new artists and a group of 100 exhibitors suggest that this may be an excellent Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire with a rich variety of sale items and a wide range of prices.

Dan Sills is the organizer of the fair for the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

He estimates that about 30 percent of the exhibitors are new to the fair this year.

Further information about the Arts and Crafts Faire is available from Mo Ferguson at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, 847-395-2233.

Church rummage sale June 25-26

Antioch—Rummage is pouring into St. Peter's School, filling the gymnasium and the school rooms. It is not imagination. It is real.

"By the day of the sale, things are piled sky-high," said Ardean Harris, a member of the committee managing the massive sale.

People arrive for the four-day bargain feast from everywhere, including Antioch. "They come from Chicago, Wisconsin, all over," she said.

The St. Peter's Rummage Sale is on Thursday, June 25 and Friday, June 26 from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Over the weekend, the sale is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Antioch's St. Peter's Church is near the corner of Route 173 and Route 59, at 557 Lake Street.

New chief named for Grayslake

Grayslake—On June 16, Grayslake trustees unanimously approved the appointment of Larry Herzog, 49, as the next chief of police.

Herzog will officially be sworn in July 1. He is currently the deputy chief of police in Park Ridge.

The search for a new chief has been on since October 1997 when Dennis Koletsos resigned from his post.

Koletsos resignation was met with controversy with allegations that he was forced out by the village administration. Both he and village officials have remained silent in the matter. Koletsos was sworn in May 18 as police chief of Northlake, a western suburb.

The village utilized the Parr Group, a Lake Bluff a search firm to select a replacement for Koletsos. They received 125 applications for the job.

In 1972 Herzog joined the Park Ridge force as a patrol officer. He was promoted to detective, sergeant, and lieutenant, and was named deputy chief in 1984.

Since Koletsos departure from the department Richard Klatzco has served as interim chief and he will be on hand to assist Herzog in the transition.

Educators lacking in staying power

Events in two neighboring school districts illustrate some of the major rights and wrongs in public education today. Dedication, loyalty, commitment and continuity are in short supply these days in the superintendent's office. Professionalism, credentials and purpose ring hollow without the aforementioned qualities.

At Libertyville High School, Supt. Don Gosset is closing out a distinguished 33 year career at the school, 18 years as superintendent, a pillar of his community. At Grayslake Elementary, Supt. Joan Hochschild is leaving for greener pastures, with few tears being shed over her departure. Hochschild, a murky authority figure to a majority of parents, came to the district in 1993.

Gossett epitomizes the tradition of educational "lifers" who ingrained themselves in the community they serve while striving to better education, taking the bumps and shouldering the burdens of changing methods and new challenges. Hochschild represents the new breed of itinerant educators who arrive on the wings of a glittering resume, fling a few grenades and move on to a better paying job in a bigger town. Her next stop will be in a North Shore district.

Hochschild added some notches to her "gun belt" in the form of curriculum advances, but there's a lot of unfinished business in the district, namely building a new school every two years for the next 10 years to keep up with projected growth.

Contrast that with Gossett's accomplishment of shepherding his district through more than a decade of tumultuous growth while achieving enviable test scores, crowning his career with a landmark solution to long-standing animosities in the district by creating a second campus for Vernon Hills.

With the average superintendency running only four to five years, school boards can well look to leadership in terms of long-term commitment instead of short-term solutions offered by today's generation of hired guns.

New-look museum will be worth the wait

Work is being pressed at the Lake County Museum to meet a target for the fall of 1999 for the addition of new, one-of-a-kind historical exhibits. When completed the facility will rank as one of the most creative and innovative regional museums in the nation.

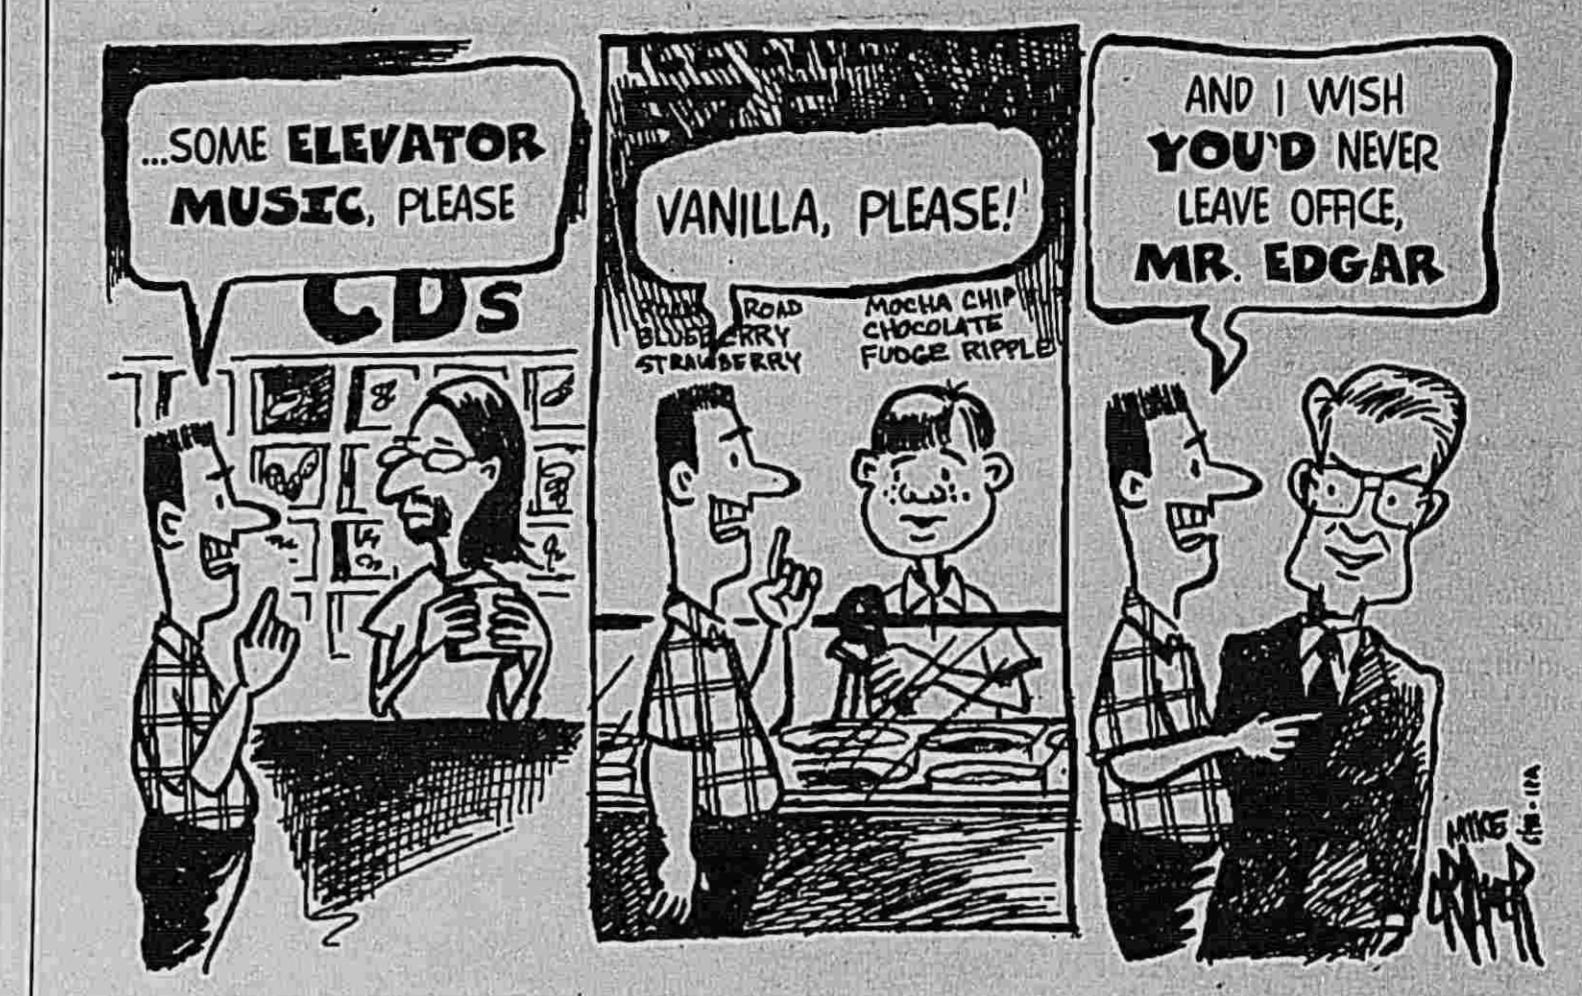

The "new look" museum will have 8,450 square feet of exhibits featuring 20,000 artifacts. Even before the ambitious expansion program was undertaken, the museum had a national reputation for the renowned Curt Teich Postcard Archives exhibit, largest of its kind. The new Lake County Mall of History, 11 storefronts covering important historical topics, is destined to become a model.

There will be a new entry theme, Roller Coaster to History, where visitors will sit in a roller coaster car to view an audiovisual tour of county history, beginning with pre-historic times. Located at Lakewood Forest Preserve, Wauconda, the museum has become a major teaching adjunct to local schools. Last year more than 10,000 children from 300 schools visited the museum to learn more about our heritage.

The museum is one of Lake County's treasures, worthy of public support. Museum officials have issued a call for monetary support over and above normal taxation. There isn't a better time for private support of the exhibit renovation project. Contributions can be sent to 27277 Forest Preserve Dr., Wauconda, IL 60084.

VIEWPOINT

GOP state ticket can sweep

Liberal Democratic voices in the media will do their best to manufacture a horse race for the November general election, but political realities forecast a winging Republican victory.

Unless Republican nominees for state office stumble over their own feet, they will get themselves elected and carry scores of GOP legislative and county candidates to election this fall.

To illustrate the uphill battle of Democrats, they have the unlikely task of knocking off a guy, gubernatorial candidate George Ryan, who helps children in need of organ transplants find donors. Talk about running against Santa Claus!

At the same time they're saddled with the job of reselling the most unqualified and inept U.S. senator in Illinois modern times, the extinguished lawmaker Carole Moseley-Braun.

For governor, voters will choose between Ryan, a savvy General Assembly veteran with a creditable record as secretary of state, and country bumpkin Congressman Glenn Poshard, who's in the hip pocket of big labor.

Including a term as lieutenant governor, Ryan has forgotten more about state government than Poshard ever learned even though he served in the State Senate before being sent to Congress by far south constituents.

Ryan has to work hard these days to contain his glee over Poshard's grand plan to raise the state income tax 17 percent. This is too good to be true for Republicans. Obviously, Poshard has been in Washington too long where Democrats only follow one tax. Hit the suckers hard and then hit 'em again—harder! The Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, retiring State Rep. Corrine Wood (R-Lake Forest), is a pro-choicer and survivor of breast cancer. Wood's presence on the state ticket speaks loud and clear to female voters that Republicans aren't anti-woman. Wood and incumbent Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka should take away the last shred of appeal that Moseley-Braun possesses—gender. Colorful, outspoken accordion playing Topinka, a former state senator, is on a fast track to become the first female governor in Illinois history.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Another incumbent, Attorney General Jim Ryan, surmounted personal health problems and tragedy in his family while doing a workmanlike job his first term. He's a good campaigner and represents courage and character that few public officials can match.

The GOP nominee for comptroller, State Sen. Chris Lauzen, has unique qualifications. He's a CPA. Who says nothing under the sun in politics is new—a candidate who actually is qualified for the office he seeks by education and experience.

Illinois voters have the opportunity this fall to elect two young politicians who have the potential of serving with distinction well into the next century in the offices they now seek and may aspire to in the future.

Peter Fitzgerald, candidate for U.S. Senate, and Al Salvi, nominee for secretary of state, represent a new breed of state office seeker in Illinois. Possessing personal wealth, they are beholden to no one or any special interest. Both Fitzgerald and Salvi follow only their own conscience, dictates of the highest level of personal integrity and a philosophy of smaller government, less taxes, family values and personal responsibility.

No other state in the nation possesses dual headlights like Salvi and Fitzgerald, both of whom are bright, articulate, have exemplary home lives and attractive families, and are committed to realigning America's moral compass. Voters who are tired of liars, cheaters and chasers in public office shouldn't think twice about voting for Fitzgerald and Salvi.

Liberal elitists and mushy independents won't find any kindred spirits on the Republican ticket. Their own Democratic lineup, with the possible exception of Moseley Braun, don't resemble the typical Democratic ticket. Democratic liberals aren't apt to hold their noses and vote. More likely they'll stay home this time. So be it.

Electors in the Illinois primary in both parties established a strong conservative tone for the 1998 election. If voters ignore wobbly political pundits and media mischievous makers, the GOP will win bigtime Nov. 3. Isn't Michael Jordan a Republican? How can the GOP lose?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Now is the time to act and save our open lands

Libertyville Township's last battle cry to save open land is here.

Since township government was adopted in Lake County in 1849, it has had many detractors. Currently, the most threatening among them is the wealthy, mostly out-of-town developers.

Our township must purchase some land to be dedicated to open-space and recreational sports facilties before it is gobbled up and developed. The 2,000 acre Cuneo Estate is a recent addition to the developers' vision of our future, and unless the township acquires land for open-space, this type of unchecked development will cost us dearly for years to come.

The public must contact their County Board members in districts 11, 13, 15 and 18 to strongly encourage them to secure some of the county property on Winchester

Road for open-space and ball fields right now. Due to the lack of ball fields, one group of ballplayers has to schedule games until midnight.

On June 25, there is a public hearing to extend the bond issue. In April of 1996, I promised the voters I would vote yes in support of open-space. I plan to keep my promises.

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

New leaning tower

Village of Round Lake officials are befuddled and embarrassed over a nearly completed water tower on the controversial Pritzker Arrow Lake development that reportedly is sinking and leaning at a eight degree angle.

The list translates into eight feet for the 150 foot high structure. When completed the tower will become part of the village water system and serve approximately 1,800 homes.

Play day July 8

With enthusiasm running at unprecedent levels, golf outing arrangers are wondering if they'll be able to accommodate players at Midlane Country Club for the July 8 Lake County Republican Golf and Play Day. In the past, tee time has been arranged at nearby golf courses for spill-over players. A full day of fun can be had for $125 at the Wadsworth layout. State Sen. Adeleine Geo-Karis (R-Zion) already has locked up an early tee off. Pat Page is masterminding the event.

Skidmore record

Political wags are saying Bob Skidmore's fund raising reception Monday, June 22, at McCormick's Restaurant, Lake Bluff, will break the record of fund raisers now held by County Board Rep. Bob Neal (R-Wadsworth) the acknowledged Republican king of campaign swag. Take heart, Skidmore's next event won't be until Aug. 26 at Blarney's Island.

Taking home honors

National Association of County Engineers (NACE) has selected Lake County Engineer Martin G. Buehler as 1997 Urban County Engineer of the Year.

Buehler, Lake County's Division of transportation director, received the honor at the NACE annual management and technical conference.

NACE Executive Director A.R. Giancola said that Buehler's award was for the "application of efficient engineering management principles and standards of economic design, construction, maintenance and operations of public works facilities."

Buehler has been county engineer since 1984. Previously, he was traffic engineer for nine years and construction engineer for two years, all with Lake County.

Our prayers are with you

Politicians and members of the public have been expressing their sympathy to State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) whose son, Kevin, died from injuries sustained in an accident in California last week.

Our prayers are with you and your family, Andrea.

A juggling act

Dr. Mary Davis, Round Lake District 116 Superintendent addressing the Chamber of Commerce, said, "We juggle all the time in Round Lake, juggle money, juggle time, juggle businesses."

No duel

Wadsworth President Donald Craft, speaking of trustee Evelyn Hoselton's letter to the board demanding an explanation of why she was removed from all committees.

"I'm not going to get into a school yard letter writing duel with her. She has been invited down to the office to talk about her concerns and she hasn't come."

Not aware

Ward Miller, Executive Director of Stormwater Management Commission, when asked about a possible stop work order on a development in Round Lake, had this to say.

"I am not aware of any problems. I don't read every letter that goes out of my office."

The letter recommending a stop work order be placed, was dated June 5, by Timothy M. Cook, Environmental Inspector for Stormwater Management.

Miller made a quick turnaround, read the letter and called back with more information.

Libraries getting bigger and better

We read articles that tell us "Why Dick and Jane Can't Read" and hear of studies that suggest high school students don't know in which century the Civil War was fought.

Some of our young adult friends don't even read a newspaper.

Yet, many of our public libraries are rebuilding or expanding, more than doubling their size.

What's going on here? Are we really becoming a nation of information dropouts, or quite the opposite?

Grayslake has a spacious new library, on a new road, Library Lane. Previously, the area's public library was crammed in a storefront with less than 7,000 square feet of space. Voters overwhelming passed a referendum to build the new $5 million, 33,000-square-foot monument to literacy.

The Warren-Newport Public Library in Gurnee has added 30,000 square feet to its previous 24,000. Waukegan also has completed a major remodeling and reorganization, and similar projects are under way in Lake Villa and Zion.

The Fremont library in the Mundelein area is planning a huge new building and Round Lake's already excellent library is expanding into its basement.

"Libraries are thriving," says Lynn Stainbrook, director of the Warren-Newport facility. "It's a national trend. There's so much information out there and people have such a need for it. The library helps them sift through and find the correct information."

"Overall," she says, "our nation is much better educated than it ever was. More people have a broader knowledge of the world, its history and literature than at any other time. Libraries are doing well because they're helping people cut through the amount of time it takes to get to something."

Libraries are pleasant retreats in which to spend spare time. The hushed quiet is golden. Nobody is honking horns or hollering for high-fives.

THE PFARR CORNER

And libraries are a great bargain, only a tiny slice of the tax pie. People have been spending obscene amounts of money to breathe the same air as the amazing Michael Jordan; well, in libraries a person can breathe the same air as the amazing William Shakespeare. That's where he still lives, along with other superstar writers.

Now that libraries also have collections of videotapes and audiotapes, that's also where Elvis, Sinatra and other marvelous entertainers live.

Population growth is a big reason public libraries feel the need to expand. Roberta Thomas, administrative librarian in Grayslake, points out that her district's population has doubled since 1990.

"The increased number of children in our community has changed our use pattern," she says. "Now our whole second story is devoted to a children's department run by a professional."

Children's reading, and adults' reading of both fiction and non-fiction, are increasing each year, Thomas says.

A public library patron may have a choice of some 100,000 books, including best sellers without spending $25 for them. Libraries also subscribe to most major magazines plus special-interest ones.

Stainbrook, says, "People with a variety of interests use our quiet reading room to pore over the newspapers and magazines. In the winter they enjoy the fireplace."

Fireplace? Yes, our libraries certainly are changing.

ication and righteousness, not extremism.

And to say "you don't have to be a genius to figure out something needs to be done." No, Grever, it doesn't take a genius, or an engineer or even a county board president to figure this one out. Something needs to be done and now, not after several more years of study.

What needs to be done are local road improvements, not laying miles of concrete that will increase development in the county leading to more gridlock, not less. It sounds like the state is yet again discarding the best alternative to solving our traffic problems without showing any willingness to give it fair, unbiased consideration.

Yes, we think local road improvements included in the Crossroads study, are the answer, because we know they are the answer.

Anti-53 sentiment not a fringe feeling

The state officials who are studying the proposed Route 53 extension have said they would greet the project's opponents with an olive branch. They didn't mention that a flogging would ensue.

Less than 24 hours after Toll Authority officials said they were seeking the input of anti-53 groups in the formation of the new Lake County Transportation Improvement Project, they were bashing these same groups in the media.

In published reports, the Transportation Project's co-chair, Lidia Pilicky, branded opponents of the project as "a small, vocal extreme." These tasteless remarks came only one day after Route 53 opponents flooded the Project's office in a resounding show of force including thousands of petitions, seven Lake County board members, a state representative, and a state senator.

Collectively, these elected officials represent more than half the county's population and are part of a burgeoning movement of open space preservationists that has posted sweeping victories in recent elections.

If these public officials are "extreme," so are the majorities who voted for them. How can a movement this vast reside on the fringe? Something just doesn't compute—and it appears to be the state's political calculation that it can muscle forth this controversial tollway extension despite fierce grassroots opposition.

Frustrated at their inability to sway public opinion, state officials have apparently decided to scorn it instead by casting aspersions on anyone who dares to challenge its Route 53 plan. In doing so, they have put to rest the myth that the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project is neutral toward the plan to build 53.

Park Foundation right move

The establishment of the Grayslake Park Foundation is a positive step for the community of Grayslake. The members will be actively seeking funds (not tax dollars) from individuals, businesses, and other entities for park projects that would otherwise not be possible with the park district's limited budget.

A recipient foundation for the Park District has been of interest to the park board since our strategic planning meeting last June. We are very grateful to the citizens of this community who have stepped forward to make this a reality.

I have personally known each member of the foundation Board for a number of years. They are open minded, honest, and caring people. Their commitment to the community has been demonstrated again and again in positive ways.

We look forward to working with the Grayslake Park Foundation to provide more and better recreational services for our community.

Jane Josephs, president
Grayslake Community Park District

Route 53 not the answer

I take extreme exception to statements made, in a recently published article, by Lake County Transportation Improvement Project (LCTIP) Co-manager Lidia Pilicky and Lake County Board chairman Bob Grever.

LCTIP literature encourages citizen input, yet when these ideas are presented with the support of a state senator, a state representative, a former state legislator and seven Lake County Board members, they are characterized as extremist and immediately disregarded.

Pilicky's statement that we "represent the concerns of certain portions of the community that think the existing transportation infrastructure should be the answer" again raises red flags regarding LCTIP's claim that their study doesn't have the predetermined outcome to build 53.

It further makes clear the LCTIP study is just another in a long line of studies designed to disregard public input.

Grever characterizes opponents of the Route 53 extension as an extremist minority. Grever, what is extreme about speaking out about an issue we knew we are right about? What is extreme about the need to continuously make our opinion known because no one at the state seems to be listening? I call this ded-

Staying organized: The Five P's of Paperwork

According to time-management consultants, some people spend up to 25 percent of their workday searching for written documents they can't find. Most of us have been there, done that and have a t-shirt to prove it.

I often accuse everyone in my office of moving, hiding or taking my important letters, papers and records. Of course, the lost items usually turn up just where I left them.

Obviously, searching for misplaced documents is costly in time, money and productivity. It is often a sign of a deeper problem: poor organizational skills.

Being disorganized not only wastes time and money, but also causes stress. Deadlines come and go, phone messages pile up and we often find ourselves falling short of our goals. All the while, we're still searching for our lost items and the pressure builds.

The good news is if you really want to become more organized you can. And, if you have the want to, I have the way to.

The Five P's of Paperwork

• Pitch It. I often find myself going through piles of information a second or third time and invariably I'll pitch something I've looked at several times before. Indecision is the culprit in this case.

You should handle paper only one time. Take a few moments to look at each piece of paperwork carefully the first time. Make a decision right then. If you need to save the item or do something about it, take one of the actions listed below. When in doubt, pitch it out.

• Pass It. You should never pass paperwork unless it is better handled by someone else. If your company needs to answer a letter or memo, and you can delegate effectively, do it. However, never pass paperwork or projects just to clean your desk temporarily.

Paperwork often acts like a boomerang: You can throw it, but it comes right back. Be certain if you pass work on to others that they will take appropriate action. Again, your goal is to only handle paperwork once.

• Pile It. We often do not have time to deal with all the paperwork we see every day. When that happens, make three orderly piles of: 1.) things to do, 2.) items to file or, 3.) articles to read.

Only pile when you have higher priorities. The mail can wait until you finish an important project. Don't let your piles gather dust.

• Put It Away. There is no better method for keeping track of important paperwork than a well planned, and consistently used filing system. Here are some good tips on filing: 1.) Have adequate filing space. Purge files regularly to free up space. Invest in additional units when needed; 2.) Take the time to file regularly and accurately; 3.) When you start a new project, create a new file for all related papers; 4.) Staple related material. Paper clips can come

Family turns boat hobby into successful business

Ahlstrand Marine celebrating 25 years in boating business

By NEAL TUCKER
Executive Editor

Most people can only dream of doing a hobby for a living. A hobby is fun, not work, but it can be done. Vern Ahlstrand, Jr. and his father have been doing just that for a quarter century as their business, Ahlstrand Marine in Mundelein is in the middle of a quiet 25th year celebration.

It all started in the early '70s when Ahlstrand and his two sons, Vern, Jr. and Glenn would go looking for antiques. But instead of going to the traditional spots, they would frequent marinas, army surplus stores and any other place that may have antique outboard items.

It did not take long for the hobby to grow into a passion, then a business.

In the early days, the Ahlstrand's were rebuilding antique motors by searching far and wide for parts. In extreme cases where they could find none, they fashioned their own. When a marina in Evanston closed down, they acquired loads of old motors, racks and tools.

The business has changed since the early days with respect to custom fabricating parts for antique motors, even though they do limited restoration work. Glenn now lives in Florida and brother-in-law, Kurt has joined the team at the family-owned business.

Yes, the business has changed but the passion has not ended. Vern, Jr. said the family is still in the marina business because they enjoy the business and the philosophy has not changed from what makes American business go around—service and selection.

Along side the standard fare available at most marina shops, Ahlstrand specializes in paddle boats, a favorite with children, and various aluminum craft.

"If you were to poll 20 marinas in the area you would find that most of them are into fiberglass," said Vern, Jr.

Ahlstrand Marine in Mundelein has stayed all in the family for 25 years. Seated comfortably in a paddle boat are Lindsay Ahlstrand, 11, and Anna Ahlstrand, 14, representing the third generation in the business. At right is a glimpse of the selection of accessories in the Rte. 60 store.—Photos by Sandy Bressner

He explained that aluminum is lighter than fiberglass so a smaller vehicle can pull a larger water craft. Some of the other crafts on display include fishing, deck, pontoon and ski boats, but that is not what draws the most oohs and aahs.

"When people drive down Rte. 60 and come into the store for the first time they say 'I never realized . . .,'" Vern, Jr. said of the reaction when people first see the six fully stocked aisles of boating accessories. "It's incredible. It's like a boater's supermarket."

FINL mission: Creating a debt-free North America

Tim Cummata, Financial Independence Network Limited (FINL) Director of Network Marketing, will be conducting a Business Orientation Meeting at Best Inns of America, 1809 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville (corner of Hwy. 21 and Hwy. 137) on Thursday, June 25, at 7 p.m. The FINL Debt-Free & Prosperous Living™ system of debt elimination and wealth building will be explained. The company's mission: to create a debt-free North America. And they're looking for people to help them accomplish this noble mission.

FINL is a Boscobel, Wis.-based company which produces, markets and distributes books, newsletters, videos, audio cassettes and computer software—all designed and written to help free people from the bondage of debt. The Debt-Free & Prosperous Living™ basic course, written by FINL President John Cummata, is the philosophical cornerstone of the company and has been purchased by more than 250,000 people. Its pages stress the importance of contemporary consumers forsaking the habit of using credit to purchase a lifestyle beyond their means.

Only by refusing the lure of credit (and the inevitably high interest rates that accompany credit debt), FINL believes, can the modern consumer attain financial independence (defined as having no debts and enough income to support yourself and your family comfortably). The Debt-Free & Prosperous Living™ system shows you how to completely eliminate debts in an average of five to seven years and, by intelligently investing the money that was previously used on interest payments to build wealth to guarantee a financially secure future.

And you can profit by helping other people prosper. Local representatives of FINL's team of Financial Independence Consultants, who subscribe to the Debt-Free & Prosperous Living™ philosophy and financial independence mission, will be on hand at the Business Orientation Meeting to speak of FINL's several business opportunities and show how the program can transform the average consumer's financial life from one of vulnerability to one characterized by stability.

Lambs Farm earns highest CARF accreditation

Lambs Farm proudly announces a Three-Year Accreditation award by CARF. The Rehabilitation Accreditation Commission. This represents the highest level of accreditation achievable. Lambs Farm was recognized for accreditation in Employment Services and Community Support Services.

This accreditation marks the sixth, three-year-accreditation awarded to Lambs Farm by CARF, the nation's accreditation authority in the fields of medical rehabilitation, behavioral health, and employment and community support services. The accreditation results from findings during CARF's recent on-site survey.

"Lambs Farm demonstrates quality rehabilitation programs, measured by rigorous standards," said Donald E. Galvin, Ph.D., President and CEO of CARF. "This Three-Year Accreditation is a credit to the high-caliber operations of Lambs Farm and its commitment to continuous quality improvement."

Established in 1966, CARF is the preeminent internationally recognized accreditation authority promoting and advocating for quality rehabilitation services. With headquarters in Tucson, Arizona, and accredited organizations throughout the United States and Canada, CARF develops standards to help organizations measure and improve the quality of their rehabilitation programs. CARF is a privately funded, not-for-profit organization.

Lambs Farm began in 1961 when 12 adults with mental disabilities were employed in a small pet shop in Chicago. Co-founders Corinne Owen and Robert Terese established the program as an alternative to the traditional sheltered workshop approach. Today, Lambs Farm is located on a 70-acre site in Libertyville, where over 250 men and women are served on an annual basis.

For more information about services and programs of Lambs Farm, call 362-4636.

"Another important factor is the nature of the Adopt a Highway concept," continued Stanulis. Carefully planned files will keep your workplace uncluttered, your efforts focused and your time your own. If you know you'll need it later, put it away.

Gather any support material you need, then push it through. Answer the letter, outline the project or finish that sales tax report. Follow through until you're finished. Then check it off your "to do" list and go on to the next highest priority.

$100,000 goal set for 9th NICASA golf invitational

A $100,000 goal has been established for the annual Charity Golf Invitational of the Northern Ill. Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA).

Money raised at the June 25 outing at Midlane Country Club, Wadsworth, will support the not-for-profit agency's programs to prevent and treat alcoholism and other drug abuse, said Judy Fried, executive director.

"It's a most ambitious goal," Fried said, "and we appreciate all the people that are working so hard on the planning committee."

Sarah Catterson and Cindy Simmons are serving as co-chairs of the steering committee. Assisting the committee are Amy Okerstrom, a development assistant at NICASA and the agency's golf invitational coordinator.

"This is the agency's ninth consecutive golf invitational and we are looking forward to another successful year," Okerstrom said.

Volunteer committee members also include Jim Frederick,

David Amory, Chuck Bartels, Valery Gallagher, LuAnn Tersar, Tom Paull, Dan Alvarez, Dan Morrissey, Kathy White-Cohen, Laurel Dahl, Kären Wittenborn and Lou Azriel.

NICASA staff assisting include Debbie Cassale, John Merwin and Claudia Sitarski.

In addition to a day of golfing, the event will include an evening banquet along with live and silent auctions.

One of the prizes featured in a drawing will be two coach seats to anywhere United Airlines flies in the continental U.S. plus $500 in cash. Tickets are available from committee members and NICASA staff.

Founded in 1966, NICASA is headquartered in Round Lake, with additional clinical facilities in Waukegan and Prairie View. The agency also operates the Women and Children's Center in North Chicago and Bridge House in Waukegan, a residential facility for men and women recovering from alcoholism or other drug addictions.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Question: I have a situation that I hope you can guide me with. While I have been working temp positions for several years on and off while trying to obtain permanent employment, I was fortunate enough to land a permanent job three weeks ago, as I took a position with a company as a receptionist. The reception job paid well and I really enjoyed it. A few days ago, I asked if I could leave work at noon and take a longer lunch so I could keep an appointment with my doctor. I told my supervisor that I would return by 1:30. The appointment ran much longer than expected, and I returned to the office at 3:15 only to be called into the supervisor's office and terminated. I feel as though I have been wrongfully let go. What is my recourse and can you give me an idea of who I should contact? Thank you for your prompt response. L.T., Mundelein

Dear L.T., As for your concerns as to being "wrongfully let go", I have to say this may have clearly been avoided had you picked up the telephone and called your supervisor to explain that the doctor was running late. You may have also changed your appointment for a time that was more conducive to not interfering with your employer's time. What is your recourse? While anyone can sue anybody for any reason...the outcome is the only thing that matters. With the fact that you have been employed for less than 30 days with this company, and the fact that Illinois is a right to hire state...I would advise you to move on and seek other employment and not waste any time or money on this situation.

Question: While I have been gainfully employed with (name withheld) for a little over a year, I applied for a position with another company four months ago and was turned down for one reason or another. I have continued working at my job somewhat happier than I was four months ago when I went for the interview. The problem is that two days ago, I was called into my boss's office and was informed that they received a call for references on me from this company I applied to four months ago. My boss was livid at the thought that I interviewed behind his back. I tried to explain that this happened months ago, and his response was that if I was unhappy, I should have come to him instead of sneaking around behind his back. My concern now is that he has lost trust in me, and I don't know how to gain that back. Please help. D.V., Lake Bluff

Dear D.V., I feel for you in that situation. My concern, as well, is for the company that made the telephone call to your employer, and by doing so, put your job in jeopardy. Have you thought about that? My first call would have been to that organization to ask them what right they had to check those references, when you were clearly denied the job four months before. My second question to them would be if they realize the ramifications of them having done that, and therefore jeopardizing your job...then, if you really want to keep the position you now hold, I would come right out and be above board with your boss. Tell your boss the story...and tell him you are appalled. His reaction: As an employer, I would be concerned with the fact that if you did this once, you may do it again. Stability for an employer can be as important as stability for the employee. Good luck.
